Around Shinnston Robert P. Bice III, 2015-08-10 Surrounding the West Fork River and its tributaries the communities in northern Harrison County are rich in both history and pride With an abundance of natural resources such as coal and oil the areas featured in Around Shinnston developed into industries that brought growth and commerce Many of these towns were named for the coal companies that established mines there including Gypsy and Owings Viroqua was named for Virginia Ohio and Pennsylvania while Wyatt previously called Goosetown was renamed to honor a local physician Big Elm once carried the roots of the largest water elm tree on record and Enterprise was a large Indian territory Shinnston is the largest community in Clay District third largest in Harrison County and is home to the oldest structure in this part of the state These areas were the heart of the Bituminous Coal Fields and today take pride in their history The Author, Playwright and Composer

, 1917 The Story of Boston Richard Gurnham, 2014-03-03 Founded shortly after the Conquest of 1066 Boston rapidly grew to become the most successful English port outside of London The growth of the wool trade in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries led to the building of St Botolph s the largest parish church in the country During the seventeenth century the town was strongly Puritan causing some inhabitants to emigrate to America to found the new city of Boston Massachusetts Some of the Pilgrim Fathers were imprisoned in the medieval Guildhall which survives to this day Boston s story is brought right up to date celebrating the complete history of this fabulous Lincolnshire town in a volume that will delight locals and visitors alike Humanitarian Intervention Aleksandar Jokic, 2003-02-21 International law makes it

explicit that states shall not intervene militarily or otherwise in the affairs of other states it is a central principle of the charter of the United Nations But international law also provides an exception when a conflict within a state poses a threat to international peace military intervention by the UN may be warranted Indeed the UN Charter provides for an international police force though nothing has ever come of this provision The Charter and other UN documents also assert that human rights are to be protected but in the past the responsibility for the protection of human rights has for the most part been allowed to rest on the government of the state where the violation of rights occurs Not surprisingly in this context the question of what protection if any should be provided by the UN or otherwise to individuals when their human rights are violated by their governments or with the complicity of their governments remains a contentious issue Should the principle of respect for state sovereignty trump the principle of respect for human rights Historically it has been allowed to do so but recently it has been more and more widely argued that when states fail to respect the human rights of their citizens or of others who reside within their boundaries they may be held accountable for their actions Is military humanitarian intervention justifiable And if so under what circumstances Those are the questions addressed in this collection of essays The focus of the volume is on the abstract principles involved though reference is sometimes made to specific cases the essays here consist primarily of philosophical reflection on the abstract issues A companion volume on the specific issues surrounding a particular case Lessons of Kosovo is being published simultaneously Lincolnshire Nikolaus Pevsner, John Harris, Nicholas Antram, 1989-01-01 Lincolnshire is incredibly rich in medieval churches from Saxon times onwards many of them still little known Lincoln Cathedral is justly famous and second only to Durham in the grandeur of its setting The prosperous years from the Middle Ages though to the eighteenth century have left a splendid legacy in the great town churches of Boston and Louth in the innumerable village churches of the south of the county the delightful manor houses such as Tennyson s Somersby and the Georgian town houses and coaching inns of Boston and Grantham of Lincoln and Louth and above all of Stamford Monuments to industry include the vast maltings at Sleaford the soaring dock tower of Grimsby and an abundance of windmills The Topographer and Genealogist John Gough Nichols, 1858 The Peerage of Ireland John Lodge, 1789 Reports of Cases Argued and Determined in the Surrogates' courts of the State of New York Theodore Connolly, 1890 *Anno Regni Annae ...
