Alcott, 2018-09-14 A boy sat on a door step in a despondent attitude with his eyes fixed on a pair of very shabby shoes and his elbows resting on his knees as if to hide the big patches there But it was not the fact that his toes were nearly out and his clothes dilapidated which brought the wrinkles to his forehead and the tears to his eyes for he was used to that state of things and bore it without complaint The prospect was a dull one for a lively lad full of the spring longings which sunny April weather always brings But it was not the narrow back street where noisy children played and two or three dusty trees tried to bud without sunshine that made him look so dismal Nor was it the knowledge that a pile of vests was nearly ready for him to trudge away with before he could really rest after doing many errands to save mother's weary feet Aunt Jo's Scrap-Bag, Louisa May Alcott, 2018-06-14 Aunt Jo's Scrap-Bag Louisa May Alcott, 2016-05-25 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to the original work as possible Therefore you will see the original copyright references library stamps as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world and other notations in the work This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work As a reproduction of a historical artifact this work may contain missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant Aunt Jo's Scrap-bag Louisa May Alcott, 1883
