Better Living Through Plastic Explosives:

Better Living Through Plastic Explosives Zsuzsi Gartner, 2011-04-05 From an emerging master of short fiction and one of Canada's most distinctive voices a collection of stories as heartbreaking as those of Lorrie Moore and as hilariously off kilter as something out of McSweeney's In Better Living through Plastic Explosives Zsuzsi Gartner delivers a powerful second dose of the lacerating satire that marked her acclaimed debut All the Anxious Girls on Earth but with even greater depth and darker humour Whether she casts her eye on evolution and modern manhood when an upscale cul de sac is thrown into chaos after a redneck moves into the neighbourhood international adoption war photography real estate the movie industry motivational speakers or terrorism Gartner filets the righteous and the ridiculous with dexterity in equal glorious measure These stories ruthlessly expose our most secret desires and allow us to snort with laughter at the grotesque world we'd live in if we all got what we wanted

Are We Postmodern Yet? Reinhold Kramer, 2019-11-08 In this book Reinhold Kramer explores a variety of important social changes including the resistance to objective measures of truth the rise of How I Feel ethics the ascendancy of individualism the immersion in cyber simulations the push toward globalization and multilateralism and the decline of political and religious faiths He argues that the displacement since the 1990s of grand narratives by ego based narratives and small narratives has proven inadequate and that selective adherence pluralist adaptation and humanism are more worthy replacements Relying on evolutionary psychology as much as on Charles Taylor Kramer argues that no single answer is possible to the book title's question but that the term postmodernity referring to the era not to postmodernism still usefully describes major currents within the contemporary world
