Territories of Inequality Olivier Jacques, Alain

Noël, 2025-08-15 The rise of income and wealth inequality and the possibilities of redistribution animate contemporary social and political debates but much of the scholarship on the issue is limited to the individual level There is a spatial dimension to the redistribution of income however and in federations this is especially important In Territories of Inequality leading political scientists propose a territorial approach to inequality and redistribution informed by political economy political geography and a comparative analysis of federalism and multilevel governance Chapters explore the relationship between interpersonal and interregional redistribution the role of progressive or regressive governing coalitions and the foundations of individual preferences for or aversions to interregional redistribution They consider different federations and quasi federations and emphasize the unique situation of Indigenous Peoples who navigate a complex relationship with institutions shaped by colonialism Examining how decentralization and federalism influence policy outcomes and public preferences Territories of Inequality provides new ways to approach the question of redistribution

Bureaucratic Occupation Julie Lahn, Elizabeth Strakosch, Patrick Sullivan, 2024-12-31 This volume explores Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples interactions with public sector bureaucracies The authors featured here consider how bureaucracy relates to colonialism race and sovereignty in a post neoliberal world They also consider the diverse ways in which Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people working within and across these sectors negotiate and engage with bureaucratic structures Some contributors offer critiques of bureaucratic hierarchies and others provide insights into the complexity of bureaucratic culture drawing attention to the complex strategies of Indigenous people who aim to make bureaucracy work for themselves and their communities The volume overall provides a nuanced and substantive analysis of the relation of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples to the contemporary administrative state and an innovative perspective from which to examine Indigenous settler relations For those concerned with Indigenous policymaking this volume puts forward a new approach that focuses on policy relationships rather than processes or outcomes The Shapeshifting Crown Cris Shore, David V. Williams, 2019-01-24 The Crown is the bedrock of Westminster style democracies yet its meanings powers and effects are opaque and little understood Invoking Empire Darren Reid, 2025-08-19 Invoking Empire examines the histories of Canada South Africa Australia and New Zealand during the transitional decades between 1860 1900 when each gained some degree of self government yet still remained within the sovereignty of the British Empire It applies the conceptual framework of imperial citizenship to nine case studies of settlers and Indigenous peoples who lived through these decades to make two main arguments It argues that colonial subjects adapted imperial citizenship to both support and challenge settler sovereignty revealing the continuing importance of imperial authority in self governing settler spaces It also posits that imperial citizenship was rendered inoperable by a combination of factors in both Britain and the colonies highlighting the contingency of settler colonialism on imperial governmental structures and challenging teleological assumptions that the rise of settler nation states was an inevitable result of settler self government
