Buet Previous Year Question:

Semantic and Lexical Universals Cliff Goddard, Anna Wierzbicka, 1994-05-04 This set of papers represents a unique collection it is the first attempt ever to empirically test a hypothetical set of semantic and lexical universals across a number of genetically and typologically diverse languages In fact the word collection is not fully appropriate in this case since the papers report research undertaken specifically for the present volume and shaped by the same guidelines They constitute parallel and strictly comparable answers to the same set of questions coordinated effort with a common aim and a common methodology The goal of identifying the universal human concepts found in all languages is of fundamental importance both from a theoretical and a practical point of view since these concepts provide the basis of the psychic unity of mankind underlying the clearly visible diversity of human cultures They also allow us to better understand that diversity itself because they provide a common measure without which no precise and meaningful comparisons are possible at all A set of truly universal or even near universal concepts can provide us with an invaluable tool for interpreting and explaining all the culture specific meanings encoded in the language and culture systems of the world It can also provide us with a tool for explaining meanings across cultures in education business trade international relations and so on The book contains 13 chapters on individual languages including Japanese by Masayuki Onishi Chinese by Hilary Chappel Thai by Anthony Diller Ewe Africa by Felix Ameka Miskitu languages of South America by Kenneth Hall Australian Aboriginal languages Aranda Yankunytjatjara and Kayardild by Jean Harkins Semantic theory and semantic universals by Goddard Introducing lexical primitives by Goddard and Wierzbicka and Semantic primitives across languages a critical review by Wierzbicka The Life of Horace Benedict de Saussure Douglas William Freshfield, Henry F. Water Management in Megacities Cecilia Tortajada, Olli Varis, Asit K. Biswas, Jan Lundqvist, 2013-09-13 Efficient and equitable water wastewater and stormwater management for the megacities is becoming an increasingly complex task The special issue will focus on water management in its totality for megacities including their technical social economic legal institutional and environmental dimensions through a series of specially invited case studies from different megacities of the world At present around one out of two of the earth's 6.3 billion people live in urban areas Each year the world population grows by around 80 millions Practically all of this growth is urban primarily due to migration World's urban population is expected to reach 5 billion by 2030 which is nearly 2.3rd more than in 2000 and would mean that 60% of world's population will live in urban areas The case studies analysed include some of the most interesting and challenging megacities of this planet Dhaka Istanbul Jakarta Johannesburg Mexico City Riyadh and São Paulo They assess different aspects of how water is intermingled in the overall development milieu The special issue will consider the magnitudes nature and extent of the present and future challenges and how these could be met in socially acceptable and cost effective ways The contributors are all acknowledged water experts from different parts of the world This book was previously published as a special issue of the International Journal of Water Resources Development

Flood Problem and Management in South Asia M. Monirul Qader Mirza, Ajaya Dixit, Ainun Nishat, 2013-03-09 Flood Problem and Management in South Asia focuses on both the hazard and the vulnerability aspects of floods This book addresses floods in South Asia from a multidisciplinary approach The characteristics and nature of the flood problem and its management aspects are examined It is suggested that flood control and management focused on structural solutions using embankments and reservoirs are insufficient Effective solutions must go beyond structural measures and require major restructuring of both legal systems and institutions responsible for management For those people living in the vast flood plains of South Asia to be able to overcome social economic and environmental vulnerabilities an adaptive approach to management of flood risks that identifies specific strategies is needed
