Building Without Borders Sustainable Construction For The Global Village Natural Building Series:

Building Without Borders Joseph F. Kennedy, 2004 In cities and countries around the world billions of people live in slums and shanty towns doomed by ongoing poverty to grossly inadequate shelter Solving the global housing crisis has become one of the most urgent imperatives of our time but doing so without creating problems of ecological degradation and lack of empowerment is a major challenge Building Without Borders describes the pioneering efforts of those who have taken up this challenge to great effect It surveys numerous projects that are housing the homeless without destroying natural habitats to do so by drawing upon local traditions The book travels from Africa and Latin America through India China and Thailand as well as Poland and the Southwest of the United States Including contributions from over thirty experienced practitioners its focus is upon locally sustainable building covering aspects of international development appropriate technology technology transfer and teacher training and a special focus on the use of natural building for displaced populations refugees and in disaster mitigation Highly illustrated and popular in style it includes case studies technical information and the latest thinking on truly sustainable construction With an appendix that outlines the remarkable work of Builders Without Borders as well as a complete listing of further resources Building Without Borders will find an eager readership among development professionals affordable housing groups and appropriate technologists as well as architects designers natural builders and housing advocates The Art of Natural Building-Second Edition-Completely Revised, Expanded and Updated Joseph F.

Kennedy, Michael G. Smith, Catherine Wanek, 2014-07-01 The original complete user friendly introduction to natural building now fully revised and updated The popularity of natural building has grown by leaps and bounds spurred by a grassroots desire for housing that is healthy affordable and environmentally responsible While there are many books available on specific methods such as straw bale construction cob or timber framing there are few resources which introduce the reader to the entire scope of this burgeoning field Fully revised and updated The Art of Natural Building is the complete and user friendly introduction to natural building for everyone from the do it yourselfer to architects and designers This collection of articles from over fifty leaders in the field is now stunningly illustrated with over two hundred full color photographs of natural buildings from around the world Learn about The case for building with natural materials from the perspectives of sustainability lifestyle and health What you need to know to plan and design your own beautiful and efficient natural home Explanations of thirty versatile materials and techniques with resources on where to go for further information on each How these techniques are being used to address housing crises around the world Clearly written logically organized and beautifully illustrated The Art of Natural Building is the encyclopedia of natural building Joseph F Kennedy is a designer builder writer artist educator and co founder of Builders Without Borders Michael G Smith is a respected workshop instructor consultant and co author of the best selling book The Hand Sculpted House Catherine Wanek is a co founder of Builders Without Borders and author photographer of The Hybrid House and The New Straw Bale Home Eco-Homes

Jenny Pickerill,2016-01-15 It is widely understood that good affordable eco housing needs to be at the heart of any attempt to mitigate or adapt to climate change This is the first book to comprehensively explore eco housing from a geographical social and political perspective It starts from the premise that we already know how to build good eco houses and we already have the technology to retrofit existing housing Despite this relatively few eco houses are being built Featuring over thirty case studies of eco housing in Britain Spain Thailand Argentina and the United States Eco Homes examines the ways in which radical changes to our houses such as making them more temporary using natural materials or relying on manual heating and ventilation systems require changes in how we live As such it argues it is not lack of technology or political will that is holding us back from responding to climate change but deep rooted cultural and social understandings of our way of life and what we expect our houses to do for us

Passive Solar Architecture David Bainbridge,Ken Haggard,2011-08-18 New buildings can be designed to be solar oriented naturally heated and cooled naturally lit and ventilated and made with renewable sustainable materials no matter the location or climate In this comprehensive overview of passive solar design two of America s solar pioneers give homeowners architects designers and builders the keys to successfully harnessing the sun and maximizing climate resources for heating cooling ventilation and daylighting Bainbridge and Haggard draw upon examples from their own experiences as well as those of others of more than three decades to offer both overarching principles as well as the details and formulas needed to successfully design a more comfortable healthy and secure place in which to live laugh dance and be comfortable Even if the power goes off Passive Solar Architecture also discusses greener and more sustainable building materials and how to use them and explores the historical roots of green design that have made possible buildings that produce more energy and other resources than they use
