Building Leadership in Project and Network Management Hans-Werner Franz,Ruggiera Sarcina,2009-08-14 1 1 1 The book The book in your hand is not a scientific book although it is based just as much on science as on my own experience in consultancy and management As its title suggests we want to build a bridge between the leadership that is typical of facilitation techniques and that of project and network management Therefore this book does more than provide you with insights into the mainly methodical Messages we want to transmit It will also make suggestions for how to train facilitators and in the centre of the book you will find a wealth of 40 carefully selected and reality proof Tools many of which have never been previously published in English and in some case have never been published at all With all of these you will find a presentation of our way of using them Our sole objective is to offer our views and experience in improving communication for effective cooperation i.e. we want people who collaborate in some way to find and decide on the best courses of action then share and implement these decisions better We want to promote learning by doing just as well as doing by learning So this book is for people who in some way are responsible for successful cooperation in projects in and across organisations or networks of organisations Action Learning has many fathers but few mothers and roots

A Journey in Translation Lee Skallerup Bessette,2016-08-03 This book traces the remarkable journey of Herbert's shifting authorial identity as versions of her work traveled through complex and contested linguistic and national terrain from the late 1950s until today At the center of this exploration of Herbert's work are the people who were inspired by her poetry to translate and more widely disseminate her poems to a wider audience Exactly how did this one woman's work travel so much farther than the vast majority of Quebecois authors Though the haunting quality of her art partly explains her wide appeal her work would have never traveled so far without the effort of scores of passionately committed translators editors and archivists Though the work of such middle men is seldom recognized much less scrutinized as a factor in shaping the meaning and reach of an artist in Herbert's case the process of translating Herbert's poetry has left in its wake a number of archival and other paratextual resources that chronicle the individual acts of translation and their reception Though the impact of translation editions and archival work has been largely ignored in studies of Canadian literary history the treasure trove of such paratextual records in Herbert's case allows us to better understand the reach of her work More importantly it provides insight into and raises critical questions about the textually mediated process of nation building and literary canon formation Published in English
