Advances in Hydroinformatics Philippe Gourbesville, Guy Caignaert, 2022-09-16 This book includes a collection of extended papers based on presentations given during the SIMHYDRO 2021 conference held in Sophia Antipolis in June 2021 with the support of French Hydrotechnic Society SHF. It focused on Models for complex and global water issues, Practices and expectations. The water field is continuously mobilizing models for addressing complex issues and new challenges. Within the context of the climate change, the water issues are exacerbated with the competition among uses. The limited water resources request from the modern societies to review some of the historical paradigms traditionally used and to promote new approaches for a sustainable management. The combined complexity and vulnerability of large urban environments request a deep understanding of water uses and environmental synergy. At the same time, water related natural hazards are contentiously straightening modern societies that must adapt and implement a more resilient environment. In parallel, in the industrial sector, the search for a high level of efficiency for hydraulic machinery requests to simulate complex processes. Under all these situations, the models currently used represent only partly the physical phenomena involved. The scale of the processes, the hypothesis included within the different numerical tools, etc. The design and the operation of relevant models represent a challenging task for the modeller who is responsible of the knowledge part of a global system that is dedicated to support the decision makers. The book explores both the limitations and performance of current models and presents the latest developments based on new numerical schemes, high performance computing, multi physics and multi scales methods and better interaction with field or scale model data. It addresses the interests of practitioners, stakeholders, researchers and engineers active in this field.

Advanced Water Treatment Mika Sillanpää, 2020-01-08

Advanced Water Treatment Adsorption discusses the application of adsorption in water purification. The book reviews research findings on the preparation of five different nano microcellulose based adsorbents, their characterization, the study of adsorption kinetics and isotherms, the determination of adsorption mechanisms and an evaluation of adsorbents regeneration properties. The book describes modification of microfibrillated cellulose (MFC) the use of succinic anhydride modified mercerized nanocellulose and aminosilane and hydroxyapatite modified nanostructured MFC for the removal of heavy metals from aqueous solutions. Final sections describe the use of aminosilane epoxy and hydroxyapatite modified MFC as a promising alternative for H₂S removal from aqueous solutions along with new findings on the adsorption properties of carbonated hydroxyapatite modified MFC as multifunctional adsorbent for the removal of both cations and anions from water. Includes the most recent research on advanced water treatment by adsorption. Provides the latest updates on novel absorbents for water purification. Describes REE removal using various absorbents. Covers a wide range of methods and their integration.
