Assessment Practices

Types of Assessments

- 1. Diagnostic: assesses students' knowledge and skills before instruction begins to identify strengths and needs so that instruction can be tailored to meet their individual learning needs (e.g., pre-test).
- 2. Formative: designed to monitor student learning and provide ongoing feedback to improve learning during the learning process (e.g., quizzes, class discussions).
- 3. Summative: measures student learning at the end of a course or unit, typically for grading purposes (e.g., end-of-term exam, final project).

"Language is the great sign of a nation. It tells you where it is, and who it is. It is the soul of a nation. It is the heart of a nation. It is the life of a nation."

—John F. Kennedy

Alignment of Assessment

Assessment should be aligned with the learning objectives and standards that are being assessed. This means that the assessment should measure the same skills and knowledge that are being taught in the classroom. For example, if the learning objective is for students to be able to identify the main idea of a text, then the assessment should include questions that require students to identify the main idea of a text. This ensures that the assessment is a valid measure of student learning.
