Beyond The Silence My Life The World And Autism:

Beyond the Silence Tito Rajarshi Mukhopadhyay, 2000 Autism and the Myth of the Person Alone Douglas Biklen, 2005-08 The prevailing view of autism and disability is redefined in this beautifully written book Immediations Pooja Rangan, 2017-05-18 Endangered life is often used to justify humanitarian media intervention but what if suffering humanity is both the fuel and outcome of such media representations Pooja Rangan argues that this vicious circle is the result of immediation a prevailing documentary ethos that seeks to render human suffering urgent and immediate at all costs Rangan interrogates this ethos in films seeking to give a voice to the voiceless an established method of validating the humanity of marginalized subjects including children refugees autistics and animals She focuses on multiple examples of documentary subjects being invited to demonstrate their humanity photography workshops for the children of sex workers in Calcutta live eyewitness reporting by Hurricane Katrina survivors attempts to facilitate speech in nonverbal autistics and painting lessons for elephants These subjects are obliged to represent themselves using immediations tropes that reinforce their status as the other and reproduce definitions of the human that exclude non normative modes of thinking being and doing To counter these effects Rangan calls for an approach to media that aims not to humanize but to realize the full radical potential of giving the camera to the other Elusive Brain Jason Tougaw, 2018-04-24 Featuring a foreword by renowned neuroscientist Joseph E LeDoux The Elusive Brain is an illuminating comprehensive survey of contemporary literature s engagement with neuroscience This fascinating book explores how literature interacts with neuroscience to provide a better understanding of the brain s relationship to the self Jason Tougaw surveys the work of contemporary writers including Oliver Sacks Temple Grandin Richard Powers Siri Hustvedt and Tito Rajarshi Mukhopadhyay analyzing the way they experiment with literary forms to frame new views of the immaterial experiences that compose a self He argues that their work offers a necessary counterbalance to a wider cultural neuromania that seeks out purely neural explanations for human behaviors as varied as reading economics empathy and racism Building on recent scholarship Tougaw s evenhanded account will be an original contribution to the growing field of neuroscience and literature Parents of Children with Autism Juliette de Wolfe, 2014-07-10 In a readable and highly accessible ethnographic account that is shaped by the stories of families and the voices of parents De Wolfe examines how parents of children with autism navigate the educational and medical systems understand their own and their children s bodies and support and educate one another Autism Spectrum Disorder (revised) Chantal Sicile-Kira, 2014-01-07 Newly revised and updated this award winning guide covers every aspect of understanding and living with autism today Comprehensive and authoritative Autism Spectrum Disorders explains all aspects of the condition and is written for parents educators caregivers and others looking for accurate information and expert insight Newly updated to reflect the latest research treatment methods and DSM V criteria this invaluable book covers The causes of autism spectrum disorders Getting an accurate diagnosis Treatments based on behavioral psychological and biomedical interventions Coping strategies for families and education needs and programs Living and working conditions for adults with ASD Community interaction and teaching strategies and resources for educators and other professionals Best Book on Autism for 2017 Healthline Monster Anthropology Yasmine Musharbash, Geir Henning

Presterudstuen, 2020-06-03 Monsters are culturally meaningful across the world Starting from this key premise this book tackles monsters in the context of social change Writing in a time of violent upheaval when technological innovation brings forth new monsters while others perish as part of the widespread extinctions that signify the Anthropocene contributors argue that putting monsters at the center of social analysis opens up new perspectives on change and social transformation Through a series of ethnographically grounded analyses they capture monsters that herald drive experience enjoy and suffer the transformations of the worlds they beleague Topics examined include the evil skulking new roads in Ancient Greece terror in post socialist Laos s territorial cults a horrific flying head that augurs catastrophe in the rain forest of Borneo benign spirits that accompany people through the mist in Iceland flesh eating giants marching through neo colonial central Australia and ghosts lingering in Pacific villages in the aftermath of environmental disasters By taking the proposition that monsters and the humans they haunt are intricately and intimately entangled seriously this book offers unique cross cultural perspectives on how people perceive the world and their place within it It also shows how these experiences of belonging are mediated by our relationships with the other than human Seeing the Spectrum Robert Rozema, 2018 With 1 in 59

children being diagnosed with Autism Spectrum Disorder ASD odds are that students on the spectrum will be in many classrooms across every subject area Seeing the Spectrum argues that secondary English teachers are uniquely equipped to prepare students with autism for future success both in school and in life Writing for preservice and current English language arts teachers Robert Rozema offers practical evidenced based strategies for teaching literature informational texts writing and communication to students on the spectrum These strategies are appropriate for inclusive classrooms with both neurotypical students and students with autism The final chapter includes a complete unit plan on Of Mice and Men illustrating how curriculum focused on commonly taught literary works can be reimaged to accommodate the needs and draw on the strengths of students on the spectrum I appreciate this book I appreciate the gift Robert Rozema has given me My thinking and teaching will now be more diverse more consciously competent more compassionate and therefore more vital From the Foreword by Jeffrey D Wilhelm distinguished professor of English Education Boise State University and author of You Gotta BE the Book Seeing the Spectrum examines real young people and daily classroom interactions to help teachers better understand the mental and emotional processing of their autistic spectrum students and devise assignments to scaffold their success Rozema knows what matters in English reading literature developing empathy understanding complex ideas and interpersonal relationships writing to express complicated ideas The diverse tools strategies and ideas he describes foster inclusiveness compassion and success for all students Allen Webb professor of English Western Michigan University Teaching Exceptional Children Mojdeh Bayat, 2016-11-10 Teaching Exceptional Children is an ideal textbook for introductory graduate and undergraduate courses on early childhood special education and teaching in inclusive classrooms. Bayat's clear and accessible writing, a visually appealing design, and focused pedagogy in each chapter help make it possible to cover a significant amount of material. This powerful text identifies specific behavioral characteristics and presents theoretical information grounded in neuroscience and child development research for a wide range of disabilities. Research-based best practices for effectively working with children with various disabilities in inclusive classrooms are provided in each chapter. The second edition has been fully updated based on the DSM 5 and includes new sections on contemporary issues in inclusion of children with disabilities in early childhood classrooms such as challenging behaviors, using technology at risk, children promoting mental health, and family issues. A robust pedagogical program along with online resources for instructors and students provides full support, including Chapter Objectives and Key Terms that help frame each chapter. Discussion, Critical Thinking, Essay, Short Answer, and Review Questions at the beginning, throughout, and concluding chapters prompt students to fully engage with the material. Homework Field Assignments provide opportunities for students to apply their knowledge to real-world situations. Real Life Vignettes illustrate concepts in action. Color Photos, Figures, and Tables clarify concepts in a visually engaging way. Recommended Resources and References offer guidance for further study. The companion website <http://routledgetextbooks.com/textbooks/9781138802209> includes instructor resources for teaching and planning, including an Instructor's Manual with additional ideas for assignments and projects, web links, and video links with reflection questions, a test bank, and PowerPoint lecture slides. The site also includes tools for students to engage with and master the concepts and terminology introduced in the book.

Always More Than One Erin Manning, 2013-01-09 In Always More Than One, the philosopher, visual artist, and dancer Erin Manning explores the concept of the more-than-human in the context of movement, perception, and experience. Working from Whitehead's process philosophy and Simondon's theory of individuation, she extends the concepts of movement and relation developed in her earlier work toward the notion of choreographic thinking. Here she uses choreographic thinking to explore a mode of perception prior to the settling of experience into established categories. Manning connects this to the concept of autistic perception described by autistics as the awareness of a relational field prior to the so-called neurotypical tendency to chunk experience into predetermined subjects and objects. Autistics explain that rather than immediately distinguishing objects such as chairs and tables and humans from one another, on entering a given environment they experience the environment as gradually taking form. Manning maintains that this mode of awareness underlies all perception. What we perceive is never first a subject or an object but an ecology. From this vantage point, she proposes that we consider an ecological politics where movement and relation take precedence over predefined categories such as the neurotypical and the neurodiverse or the human and the nonhuman. What would it mean to embrace an ecological politics of collective individuation?
