of the school's land only a small portion of which is actually needed for the school's facilities. Most of the land is covered with mature trees and wetlands. Three board members led by Treasurer Pat Richards want to place the school on a firmer financial footing by selling of a large portion of the land and using the proceeds to pay down debt and establish a small endowment. Four board members including Chairperson Ken Jones believe that the land is a public trust and an important element of the school's brand. A showdown is brewing.
