Additional Dialogue; Letters of Dalton Trumbo, 1942-1962 Dalton Trumbo, 1970 Additional Dialogue Dalton Trumbo (Filmregisseur), 1970 Additional dialogue Dalton Trumbo, 1970 Additional Dialogue; Letters of Dalton Trumbo, 1942-1962 Dalton Trumbo, 1970 Screening the Male Steve Cohan, Ina Rae Hark, 2012-09-10 Screening the male re examines the problematic status of masculinity both in Hollywood cinema and feminist film theory Classical Hollywood cinema has been theoretically established as a vast pleasure machine manufacturing an idealized viewer through its phallogocentric ideological apparatus Feminist criticism has shown how difficult it is for the female viewer to resist becoming implicated in this representational system But the theories have overlooked the significance of the problem itself of the masculine motivation at the core of the system The essays here explore those male characters spectators and performers who occupy positions conventionally encoded as feminine in Hollywood narrative and questions just how secure that orthodox male position is Screening the Male brings together an impressive group of both established and emerging scholars from Britain the United States and Australia unified by a concern with issues that film theorists have exclusively inked to the feminine and not the masculine spectacle masochism passivity masquerade and most of all the body as it signifies gendered racial class and generational differences Dalton Trumbo, Hollywood Rebel Peter Hanson, 2015-08-13 As a screenwriter novelist and political activist Dalton Trumbo stands among the key American literary figures of the 20th century he wrote the classic antiwar novel Johnny Got His Gun and his credits for Spartacus and Exodus broke the anticommunist blacklist that infected the movie industry for more than a decade By defining connections between Trumbo's most highly acclaimed films including Kitty Foyle Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo and Roman Holiday and his important but lesser known movies The Remarkable Andrew He Ran All the Way and The Boss the author identifies how for nearly four decades Trumbo used the archetype of the rebel hero to inject social consciousness into mainstream films This new critical survey the first book length work on Trumbo's screenwriting career examines the scores of films on which Trumbo worked and explores the techniques that made him at the time he was blacklisted in 1947 Hollywood's highest paid writer Hanson reveals how Trumbo dealt with major themes including rebellion radical politics and individualism while also detailing lesser known areas of Trumbo's screenwriting such as his troubling portrayal of women the dichotomy between his proletarian attitude and bourgeois lifestyle and the almost surreptitious manner in which he included antiestablishment rhetoric in seemingly innocuous scripts An extensive filmography is included The Gladiators vs. Spartacus, Volume 1 Henry MacAdam, Duncan Cooper, 2020-11-13 Using previously unpublished correspondence and personal journal entries from screenwriter Abraham Polonsky neglected notices in Variety and other Hollywood trade publications and a wide range of published sources this narrative backstory of rival movie productions of The Gladiators vs Spartacus documents that intense competition with greater precision and clarity than any other existing account The key role that this little known chapter of Hollywood's

blacklist history played in connection with Dalton Trumbo's successful effort to win screen credit for Spartacus is now for the first time available to film historians and lay readers. A companion study, Volume 2, is devoted to Abraham Polonsky's rediscovered screenplay.

The Grove Book of Hollywood Christopher Silvester, 2007-12-01. A treasure trove of insider accounts of the movie business from its earliest beginnings to the present day, exceedingly savvy, astute, and entertaining. Variety. The Grove Book of Hollywood is a richly entertaining anthology of anecdotes and reminiscences from the people who helped make the City of Angels the storied place we know today. Movie moguls, embittered screenwriters, bemused outsiders such as P. G. Wodehouse and Evelyn Waugh, and others all have their say. Organized chronologically, the pieces form a history of Hollywood as only generations of insiders could tell it. We encounter the first people to move to Hollywood when it was a dusty village on the outskirts of Los Angeles, as well as the key players during the heyday of the studio system in the 1930s. We hear from victims of the blacklist and from contemporary players in an industry dominated by agents. Coming from a wide variety of sources, the personal recollections range from the affectionate to the scathing, from the cynical to the grandiose. Here is John Huston on his drunken fistfight with Errol Flynn, Cecil B. DeMille on the challenges of filming The Ten Commandments, Frank Capra on working for the great comedic producer Mark Sennett, William Goldman on the strange behavior of Hollywood executives in meetings, and much more. A masterly, magnificent anthology. The Grove Book of Hollywood is a must for anyone fascinated by Hollywood and the film industry. Literary Review, London.

Film Study Frank Manchel, 1990. The four volumes of Film Study include a fresh approach to each of the basic categories in the original edition. Volume one examines the film as film; volume two focuses on the thematic approach to film; volume three draws on the history of film; and volume four contains extensive appendices listing film distributors, sources, and historical information, as well as an index of authors, titles, and film personalities.

American Space, Jewish Time Stephen J. Whitfield, 2017-07-05. This is a delightful book, a small gem replete with insightful, provocative pieces about both American culture and Jewish life. I think that Stephen Whitfield is one of the most original essayists on these two topics. Few other scholars combine the density of his knowledge with the verve of his prose. Hasia R. Diner, New York University.
