

Solution Manual for Accounting Principles, 9th Edition

CHAPTER 1

Accounting in Action

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

1. Yes, this is correct. Virtually every organization and person in our society uses accounting information. Businesses, investors, creditors, government agencies, and not-for-profit organizations must use accounting information to operate effectively.
2. Accounting is the process of identifying, recording, and communicating the economic events of an organization to interested users of the information. The first step of the accounting process is therefore to identify economic events that are relevant to a particular business. Once identified and measured, the events are recorded to provide a history of the financial activities of the organization. Recording consists of keeping a chronological diary of these measured events in an orderly and systematic manner. The information is communicated through the preparation and distribution of accounting reports, the most common of which are called financial statements. A vital element in the communication process is the accountant's ability and responsibility to analyze and interpret the reported information.
 - (a) Internal users are those who plan, organize, and run the business and therefore are officers and other decision makers.
 - (b) To assist management, managerial accounting provides internal reports. Examples include financial comparisons of operating alternatives, projections of income from new sales campaigns, and forecasts of cash needs for the next year.
 - (a) Investors (owners) use accounting information to make decisions to buy, hold, or sell ownership shares of a company.
 - (b) Creditors use accounting information to evaluate the risks of granting credit or lending money.
5. Bookkeeping usually involves only the recording of economic events and therefore is just one part of the entire accounting process. Accounting, on the other hand, involves the entire process of identifying, recording, and communicating economic events.
6. Karen Sommers Travel Agency should report the land at $90,000 on its December 31, 2010 balance sheet. An important concept that accountants follow is the cost principle. The cost principle states that assets should be recorded at their cost. Cost has an important advantage over other valuations: it is reliable. Cost can be objectively measured and can be verified.
7. The monetary unit assumption requires that only transaction data that can be expressed in terms of money be included in the accounting records. This assumption enables accounting to quantify (measure) economic events.
8. The economic entity assumption requires that the activities of the entity be kept separate and distinct from the activities of its owners and all other economic entities.
