Anthocyanins as Flower Pigments T. Mulder-Krieger, Robert Verpoorte, 2012-12-06 To date several possibilities exist to change the genetics of plants including classical breeding and modern molecular biological approaches such as recombinant DNA techniques and plant transformation methods The aim of this publication is to review the feasibilities offered by the current technologies to modify flower colours Due to the great importance of anthocyanins as flower pigments the main part of this study deals with this class of flavonoids responsible for most red purple and blue colours Being electron deficient the flavylum nucleus of the anthocyanins is highly reactive and undergoes dependent upon pH readily structural transformations which are coupled with colour changes A number of mechanisms that stabilize the coloured at expense of the colourless structures in plants are described including acylation co pigmentation and metal complex formation Because no plant species possesses the genetic capacity for producing varieties in the full spectrum of colours man has looked for methods to change the genetic properties of plants In recent years conventional flower breeding is more and more being supplemented by genetic engineering techniques This technology offers the possibility to insert specific genes into the cell genome and to transfer genes most efficiently between different organisms The common flower pigments the anthocyanins have been studied for many years and represent now the best understood group of secondary plant metabolites with respect to bio chemistry and genetics Netherlands Export-Import, Trade and Business Directory Volume 1 Strategic Information and Contacts IBP, Inc., 2013-08 2011 Updated Reprint Updated Annually Netherlands Export Import Trade and Business Directory Agri-Holland, 1987 The Rough Guide to Holland Martin Dunford, Jack Holland, Phil Lee, 2000 This handbook to Holland presents accounts of all there is to do and see It includes reviews of where to stay eat and drink from Amsterdam s designer bars tot he small town cafes of provincial Holland There is also a discussion of Holland s history art and literature Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office, 1999 Floricultural Products International Trade Centre UNCTAD/GATT., 1987 Breeding of Ornamental Crops: Potted Plants and Shrubs Jameel M.
