Domestic Wastewater Treatment in Developing Countries Duncan Mara, 2013-06-17 Affordable and effective domestic wastewater treatment is a critical issue in public health and disease prevention around the world, particularly so in developing countries which often lack the financial and technical resources necessary for proper treatment facilities. This practical guide provides state-of-the-art coverage of methods for domestic wastewater treatment and provides a foundation to the practical design of wastewater treatment and re-use systems. The emphasis is on low cost, low energy, low maintenance, high performance, natural systems that contribute to environmental sustainability by producing effluents that can be safely and profitably used in agriculture for crop irrigation and/or in aquaculture for fish and aquatic vegetable pond fertilization. Modern design methodologies with worked design examples are described for waste stabilization ponds, wastewater storage and treatment reservoirs, constructed wetlands, upflow anaerobic sludge blanket reactors, biofilters, aerated lagoons and oxidation ditches. This book is essential reading for engineers, academics and upper level and graduate students in engineering, wastewater management and public health and others interested in sustainable and cost-effective technologies for reducing wastewater-related diseases and environmental damage. Municipal Wastewater Stabilization Ponds, 1983 The Journal of the Institution of Engineers (India), 1976

Natural Wastewater Treatment Systems And Sustainability Nicholas F Gray, 2021-10-04 This book deals with natural treatment systems and the challenges the water industry faces in dealing with sustainability and the realisation of reaching Net Zero by 2030. Surface waters are all under threat with freshwater ecosystems now facing unprecedented levels of contamination even after a century of ever stricter legislation and regulation. The increase in population and especially in urbanization without sufficient planning and investment to ensure adequate wastewater collection and treatment coupled with the need to reduce greenhouse gas emissions associated with wastewater treatment is leading to a crisis in wastewater treatment in many countries. Natural treatment systems which use plants and soil microorganisms are very much nature-based solutions and wherever applicable might offer sustainable and low emissions options.
