INTRODUCTION TO ENDOCRINOLOGY

- Classified Knowledge
  - Information that companies consider private, confidential, and valuable
  - The most commonly known characteristic of the firm is its proprietary technological resources. Additionally, a firm's technology can be a source of competitive advantage
  - Companies that have a large number of patents for new ideas to increase their strength
  - Lack of capital leads to a large number of patents for new and powerful ideas. It also leads to reduced technological growth that leads to reduced productivity
  - System failure leads to the creation of different types of security measures

TECHNOLOGICAL TOLERANCE (Table 2.1)

1. Define the concept of a species.
A group of individuals that are similar in appearance and behavior, and that can interbreed to produce fertile offspring.
2. Explain the difference between a species and a population.
A species is a group of individuals that are similar in appearance and behavior, and that can interbreed to produce fertile offspring. A population is a group of individuals of the same species that live in the same area at the same time.
3. Describe the process of speciation.
Speciation is the process by which new species are formed. It occurs when a population of a species is divided into two or more groups, and each group evolves independently. Over time, the groups become so different that they can no longer interbreed, and new species are formed.

• Environmental Science

- Experimental Research Design
  - Observational Research is the study of the behaviour, characteristics and interactions of animals, but of those organisms, researchers cannot control the behaviour. Some animals are subjected to the same, others are not.
