Layers

The heart wall is a muscular layer consisting of the pericardium, myocardium, and endocardium layers and 4 chambers.

The heart wall is divided into two parts: the right and left ventricles. The right ventricle is the larger of the two and is located on the right side of the heart. The left ventricle is the smaller of the two and is located on the left side of the heart.

The right and left ventricles are connected by the interventricular septum. The right ventricle pumps blood to the lungs and the left ventricle pumps blood to the rest of the body. The heart wall is composed of three layers: the pericardium, myocardium, and endocardium.
