The Sociology of

Religion George Lundskow, 2008-06-10 Most Sociology of Religion texts are decidedly staid and uninteresting covering contemporary developments which are only contemporary only from a disciplinary perspective They are not contemporary if viewed from the perspective of the religion's practitioners in religious and non religious settings The textbooks that attempt to be interesting to undergraduate students often fall short because they either try to cover too much in an encyclopedic format or sacrifice a sociological perspective for a personal one Many use real life examples only superficially to illustrate concepts Lundskow's approach is the opposite students will learn the facts of religion in its great diversity all the most interesting and compelling beliefs and practices and then learn relevant concepts that can be used to explain empirical observations The book thus follows the logic of actual research investigate and then analyze rather than approaching concepts with no real bearing on how religion is experienced in society This approach using provocative examples and with an eye toward the historical and theoretical not to mention global experience of religion will make this book a success in the classroom The author envisions a substantive approach that examines religion as it actually exists in all its forms including belief ritual daily living identity institutions social movements social control and social change Within these broad categories the book will devote particular chapters to important historical moments and movements leaders and various individual religions that have shaped the contemporary form and effect of religion in the world today New Testament Theology Thomas R. Schreiner, 2008-06 This comprehensive survey of New Testament theology is arranged thematically and includes careful exegesis of key passages The New Testament and the Theology of Trust Teresa Morgan, 2022 This study argues for the recovery of trust as a central theme in Christian theology and offers the first theology of trust in the New Testament displaying trust between God Christ and humanity as a risky dynamic forward looking life changing partnership
