REVIEW IDEAS

1. People often make economic decisions by considering incentives and trade-offs. Complete the table with a definition and an example of each of these factors.

| Factor    | Definition                                                            | Example                                                                            |
|-----------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Incentive | Something that encourages people to make a specific economic decision | A local bookshop offers coupons that provide a discount on the purchase of a book. |
| Trade-off | The decision to attain one thing at the cost of losing out on another | A consumer buys a lower-quality shampoo because it is cheaper.                     |

2. One of the factors that affect economic decisions is scarcity. What happens when products and resources become less available? How does this affect the incentives and trade-offs involved in a person's economic decision making?

Sample answer: When a product or resource becomes less available, or scarcer, it affects how people make economic decisions. They may pay more for a product than it is worth, for example. If they pay more, the trade-off is that they are unable to use that money to buy something else.

3. Economic decisions often involve trade-offs, which come with benefits and losses. Economic losses are known as opportunity costs. Read the following scenario and then answer two questions about trade-offs and opportunity costs.
