STYLE MANUAL & EDITION

This is a brief guide to American Psychological Association (APA) and Modern Language Association (MLA) rules used in academic writing.

Important: The styles created in this guide are accurate according to the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association 7th edition (2020) and the MLA Handbook 8th edition (2016). Each time APA and MLA guidelines are revised, changes and additions must be made to guide this website.

APA STYLE 7th Edition

What is APA Style?

- APA style does not refer to a writing style, rather, it is the editorial style developed by the American Psychological Association for use in the fields and journals of psychology. Other social and behavioral sciences have also adopted APA style for their own written material.
- Editorial style refers to the rules or guidelines published when it comes to consistent presentation of written materials. It includes:
 - Presentation and abbreviations
 - References citations
 - Table construction
 - Using electronic references
 - Handling references
 - Presenting statistics

Writing for the Behavioral & Social Sciences

Data Retention & Sharing

- It is the responsibility of researchers to give others access to their information at any point in the publication process, even after publication.
- Authors should keep their data for at least five years after the publication date.

Plagiarism & Self-Plagiarism

- Plagiarism: It is expected that researchers will give proper credit for their research and not present the work of others as their own.
 - Self-plagiarism: Researchers should not present their own past publications as new scholarship.

Conflict of Interest

- It is best to note any activities or relationships that could appear to constitute a conflict of interest, even if the researcher doesn't believe they exist.

Manuscript Structure & Content

Journal Article Reporting Standards

Reporting standards are not based on typical forms; rather, they are based on research design and implementation of the actual study.

Writing Clearly & Concisely

Headings

- Headings serve two:
 - The parts of your paper work together.
 - Your paper is organized by indicating which parts are equally important and how each part relates to the others.
- APA uses five heading formats.

Centered, Bold, Title Case Heading

Block Left, Bold, Title Case Heading

Indented, Bold, Title Case Heading, Center Within Period

Indented, Bold, Title Case Heading, Ending With a Period

When using headings:

- The first use of heading in the introduction of your paper.
- Use the same heading level for topics of equal importance.
- The next time each heading is followed by at least two subheadings or none at all. Do not create more steps, or substeps, than a single step.
- The next level headings may sometimes be letters, or a, or another.

Reducing Bias in Language

- Use the appropriate level of specificity.
 - ORCID: Using the word man to represent humanity is not acceptable as using the phrase individuals or people.
 - Differences of any kind should be described only when relevant.
- Be sensitive to labels.
 - Use the singular they for a person who keeps they as their pronoun.
 - Avoid using adjectives or nouns to label people (e.g., depressed, the poor).
 - Call people what they call themselves.
 - Preserve first language (e.g., a person with psychoplasia, identify first language (e.g., or Spanish parents, or Indians stay the Indians).
- Avoid false generalizations.
 - They are false generalizations for groups (e.g., average or most with straight man or woman, over the general public).
 - When referring to multiple social groups, don't put groups in order of social dominance (e.g., minority or majority, white, immigrant and social or economic).
- Reducing Bias by Topic.
 - Consider cultural, refers to a person's role, not their biological sex.
 - Use the singular they for individuals whose identified genders are not known.
 - Do not use terms that imply bias (e.g., opportunity or poverty).
 - Sexual orientation: A pattern of attractions, behaviors, identity, and sexual conduct—different from sexual preference.
