Enabling IBM Cloud Pak for Multicloud Management to Connect Kubernetes Clusters Using IBM Secure Gateway Michael Bubel, IBM Redbooks, 2020-11-20 In today's dynamically changing IT landscape it is highly likely that a company's cloud strategy spans multiple cloud providers. Such a span is known as the hybrid multi cloud landscape. The challenges that quickly surface in an IT department's list of responsibilities now encompass managing environments that are running on multiple cloud providers. The traditional IT administrators find themselves using individual dashboards for each of the cloud providers to monitor and manage those environments. In turn, each of the cloud provider's dashboards have their own unique features that require a learning curve to become productive. The traditional IT administrator must now become a specialized hybrid cloud engineer with different hats for each of the cloud providers. This dynamic led to the quick realization of the need for a tool that provides a common dashboard for managing a company's hybrid cloud landscape. IBM is one such company that quickly recognized this need and used their experience in years of systems management tools created the IBM Cloud Pak for Multicloud Management. This paper describes the steps that are required to connect a Kubernetes management dashboard that is provided with the IBM Cloud Pak for Multicloud Management running on an on premises private cloud to Kubernetes clusters that are running on public clouds. An IBM Cloud service that is called IBM Secure Gateway is at the core of this connection. The procedure to set up the Kubernetes clusters to use the IBM Secure Gateway service also is described in this paper. Federal Register, 1996-12 Metal Worker, Plumber and Steam Fitter, 1903

Most software systems that have been built recently are claimed to be Object Oriented. Even older software systems that are still in commercial use have been upgraded with some OO flavors. The range of areas where OO can be viewed as a must have feature seems to be as large as the number of fields in computer science. If we stick to one of the original views of OO that is to create cost effective software solutions through modeling physical abstractions, the application of OO to any field of computer science does indeed make sense. There are OO programming languages, OO operating systems, OO databases, OO specifications, OO methodologies, etc. So what does a conference on Object Oriented Programming really mean? I honestly don't know. What I do know is that since its creation in 1987 ECOOP has been attracting a large number of contributions and ECOOP conferences have ended up with high quality technical programs featuring interesting mixtures of theory and practice. Among the 183 initial submissions to ECOOP 99, 20 papers were selected for inclusion in the technical program of the conference. Every paper was reviewed by three to five referees. The selection of papers was carried out during a 1 day program committee meeting at the Swiss Federal

Institute of Technology in Lausanne Papers were judged according to their originality presentation quality and relevance to the conference topics Gas Appliance Merchandising ,1933 Building Supply News and Home Appliances ,1922
