Policing the Global South Danielle Watson, Sara N. Amin, Wendell C. Wallace, Oluwagbenga (Michael) Akinlabi, Juan Carlos Ruiz-Vásquez, 2022-11-11 Policing the Global South provides scholarship which further transnationalises and democratises ideas about policing practices and philosophies highlighting renovations in approaches to policing studies and injecting innovative perspectives into the study of policing from scholars positioned on the periphery Criminological knowledge depolarisation underscores a conscious effort by scholars from the Global South to increase intellectual knowledge focused on developing context specific responses to issues not aligned to Northern ideological positions and specific to the non Northern context Such shifts draw attention to the expanse of spaces beyond Northern centres rife with challenges unlike any specific to those experienced or conceptualised by scholars from the Global North with an applied Northern criminological lens Applying a postcolonial lens to empirical knowledge from country specific cases in former colonies in Africa Asia the Caribbean the Pacific and Latin America this book examines how policing issues not aligned to Northern ideological positions and specific to non Northern contexts are addressed The primary purpose is to share innovations in the field of policing service provision threats to security crime responses justice and international trends developed in postcolonial developing country contexts Given the aim of the book and the contributors own research on issues of policing across the globe it discusses themes including but not limited to the colonial legacies and their impact on policing how plural regulatory systems and partnerships are navigated by the police the linkages between access to justice community perceptions and police legitimacy innovations and challenges in organisational reform crime prevention and community partnerships and the expanding roles of police organisations in the Global South While each chapter presents a policing issue in a country within a specific part of the Global South the book highlights how important it is to frame responses based on contextual realities informed by an awareness of the past and present with a goal of informing the future Delivering a much needed introduction to those specialising in policing in developing countries this book is invaluable reading for academics and students of criminology criminal justice governance policy and IR as well as professionals in policing organizations across the globe

Behavioural Skills for Effective Policing Mark Kilgallon, Martin Wright, 2025-02-28 Behavioural skills are essential to effective policing practice and professional development and are also embedded within the policing competency frameworks As the police service looks to further redefine its role in the twenty first century this critical handbook covers the full range of these proficiencies from building rapport applying emotional intelligence building empathy and resilience to diversity and difference understanding ethics and developing coaching and leadership skills Each chapter is written by a distinguished serving or former senior police leader and or policing scholar bringing together a wealth of experience and understanding and applying this knowledge in context through key case studies and examples Suitable for serving police officers at all levels as well as policing lecturers and students aspiring to join the police this book encourages and enables a people centred approach to policing that balances the debate that has given disproportionate credence to transactional skills at the expense of a more transformational approach

Policing Hate Crime Gail Mason, Jane Maree Maher, Jude McCulloch, Sharon Pickering, Rebecca Wickes, Carolyn McKay, 2017-03-16 In a contemporary setting of increasing social division and marginalisation Policing Hate Crime interrogates the complexities of prejudice motivated crime and effective policing practices Hate crime has become a barometer for contemporary police relations with vulnerable and marginalised communities But how do police effectively lead conversations with such communities about problems arising from prejudice Contemporary police are expected to be active agents in the pursuit of social justice and human rights by stamping out prejudice and group based animosity At the same time police have been criticised in over policing targeted communities as potential perpetrators as well as under policing these same communities as victims of crime Despite this history the demand for impartial law enforcement requires police to change their engagement with targeted communities and kindle trust as priorities in strengthening their response to hate crime Drawing upon a research partnership between police and academics this book entwines current law enforcement responses with key debates on the meaning of hate crime to explore the potential for misunderstandings of hate crime between police and communities and illuminates ways to overcome communication difficulties This book will be important reading for students taking courses in hate crime as well as victimology policing and crime and community Transforming Summary Justice

Jenni Ward, 2016-11-10 Sweeping changes are being introduced into the lower tier magistrates courts in England and Wales in efforts to modernise the system and speed up case processing They concentrate on delivering prompt justice within a modern efficient and technologically advanced system But these transformations are fundamentally changing the way justice is delivered This book analyses criminal court streamlining processes and argues that there are areas where due process protections are being undermined Transforming Summary Justice reports empirical research carried out with lay magistrates and criminal justice professionals Views and experiences drawn from magistrates are valuable because of the central role they perform in lower court justice Further magistrates provide a wider understanding of the context in which the lower criminal courts operate and enable a critical appraisal of this unique style of lay justice This book is directed at students of criminology criminal justice and socio legal studies who will find the debates stimulating and useful to engage with in contemporary analyses of criminal court justice It will also be of interest to justice and legal professionals who are seeing swingeing alterations to the field in which they work The book will have appeal in other common law jurisdictions where similar modifications to lower court justice are occurring and also across Europe where lay involvement in legal decision making is being debated and becoming accepted practice A Criminology of Policing and Security Frontiers

Randy K Lippert, Kevin Walby, 2019-02-20 Policing and security provision are subjects central to criminology Yet there are newer and neglected forms that are currently unscrutinised By examining the work of community safety officers ambassador patrols conservation officers and private police foundations who operate on and are animated by a frontier this book reveals why criminological inquiry must reach beyond traditional conceptual and methodological boundaries in the 21st century Including novel case studies this multi disciplinary and international book assembles a rich collection of policing and security frontiers both geographical e.g. the margins of cities and conceptual dispersion and credentialism not seen or acknowledged previously

Predictive Policing and Artificial Intelligence John McDaniel, Ken Pease, 2021-02-25 This edited text draws together the insights of numerous worldwide eminent academics to evaluate the condition of predictive policing and artificial intelligence AI as interlocked policy areas Predictive and AI technologies are growing in prominence and at an unprecedented rate Powerful digital crime mapping tools are being used to identify crime hotspots in real time as pattern matching and search algorithms are sorting through huge police databases populated by growing volumes of data in an effort to identify people liable to experience or commit crime places likely to host it and variables associated with its solvability Facial and vehicle recognition cameras are locating criminals as they move while police services develop strategies informed by machine learning and other kinds of predictive analytics Many of these innovations are features of modern policing in the UK the US and Australia among other jurisdictions AI promises to reduce unnecessary labour speed up various forms of police work encourage police forces to more efficiently apportion their resources and enable police officers to prevent crime and protect people from a variety of future harms However the promises of predictive and AI technologies and innovations do not always match reality They often have significant weaknesses come at a considerable cost and require challenging trade offs to be made Focusing on the UK the US and Australia this book explores themes of choice architecture decision making human rights accountability and the rule of law as well as future uses of AI and predictive technologies in various policing contexts The text contributes to ongoing debates on the benefits and biases of predictive algorithms big data sets machine learning systems and broader policing strategies and challenges Written in a clear and direct style this book will appeal to students and scholars of policing criminology crime science sociology computer science cognitive psychology and all those interested in the emergence of AI as a feature of contemporary policing

Contemporary Issues in Global Criminal Justice Ed Johnston, Sophie Marsh, 2022-08-22 Contemporary Issues in Global Criminal Justice provides a holistic analysis of modern criminal justice issues encompassing the pre trial investigative and post conviction stages of criminal justice in legal settings across the world The contributors acknowledge and examine the vast array of challenges in global criminal justice from the role of the International Criminal Court to policing the integration of technology and how marginalized groups such as sex workers and those with addictions are treated in the courts With contributions from scholars in England and Wales New Zealand Croatia Spain the Netherlands Canada and The Republic of North Macedonia this book is not limited to one jurisdiction and highlights that criminal justice is very much a global issue in a state of crisis From policing to the courts it is in urgent need of reform Without a competent criminal justice system justice does not exist This book would be of interest to scholars in the legal criminal justice and criminology fields

The Routledge Handbook of International Crime and Justice Studies Bruce Arrigo, Heather Bersot, 2013-08-15 The Routledge Handbook of International Crime and Justice Studies presents the enduring debates and emerging challenges in crime and justice studies from an international and multi disciplinary perspective Guided by the pivotal although vastly under examined role that consumerism politics technology and culture assume in shaping these debates and in organizing these challenges individual chapters probe the global landscape of crime and justice with astonishing clarity and remarkable depth A distinguished collection of experts examine the interdisciplinary field of international crime and justice Their contributions are divided into thematic sections including theory culture and society industries of crime and justice systems of policing law corrections and punishment the criminal enterprise global technologies media crime and culture green criminology political violence public health criminology the political economy of crime and justice All the chapters include full pedagogy and instructional resources for easy referencing or classroom use This Handbook will be useful for students scholars and practitioners of law medicine history economics sociology politics philosophy education public health and social policy
