Michel-Kerjan, 2019-07-26 Whether man made or naturally occurring large scale disasters can cause fatalities and injuries devastate property and communities savage the environment impose significant financial burdens on individuals and firms and test political leadership Moreover global challenges such as climate change and terrorism reveal the interdependent and interconnected nature of our current moment what occurs in one nation or geographical region is likely to have effects across the globe Our information age creates new and more integrated forms of communication that incur risks that are difficult to evaluate let alone anticipate All of this makes clear that innovative approaches to assessing and managing risk are urgently required When catastrophic risk management was in its inception thirty years ago scientists and engineers would provide estimates of the probability of specific types of accidents and their potential consequences Economists would then propose risk management policies based on those experts estimates with little thought as to how this data would be used by interested parties Today however the disciplines of finance geography history insurance marketing political science sociology and the decision sciences combine scientific knowledge on risk assessment with a better appreciation for the importance of improving individual and collective decision making processes The essays in this volume highlight past research recent discoveries and open questions written by leading thinkers in risk management and behavioral sciences The Future of Risk Management provides scholars businesses civil servants and the concerned public tools for making more informed decisions and developing long term strategies for reducing future losses from potentially catastrophic events Contributors Mona Ahmadiani Joshua D Baker W J Wouter Botzen Cary Coglianese Gregory Colson Jeffrey Czajkowski Nate Dieckmann Robin Dillon Baruch Fischhoff Jeffrey A Friedman Robin Gregory Robert W Klein Carolyn Kousky Howard Kunreuther Craig E Landry Barbara Mellers Robert J Meyer Erwann Michel Kerjan Robert Muir Wood Mark Pauly Lisa Robinson Adam Rose Paul J H Schoemaker Paul Slovic Phil Tetlock Daniel V stf ll W Kip Viscusi Elke U Weber Richard Zeckhauser

An Archaeology of Temperature Scott W. Schwartz, 2021-11-29 This work investigates the material culture of public temperatures in New York City Numbers like temperature while ubiquitous and indispensable to capitalized social relations are often hidden away within urban infrastructures evading attention This Archaeology of Temperature brings such numbers to light interrogating how we construct them and how they construct us Building on discussions in contemporary archaeology this book challenges the border between material and discursive culture advocating for a novel conception of capitalism s artifacts The artifacts examined within temperatures are instantaneous electric pulses algorithmic outputs and momentary fluctuations in mercury The artifacts of the capitalized never sit still operating at subatomic and solar scales Temperatures as numerical materials precariously straddling the colonially constructed nature culture divide exemplify the abstraction necessary to pursue the perpetually accelerating asymmetrical growth of wealth a pursuit that engenders multiple environmental and economic calamities An Archaeology of Temperature innovatively reimagines theory and method within contemporary archaeology Equally in plumbing the depths of temperature this book offers indispensable contributions to science studies urban geography semiotics the philosophy of materiality the history of thermodynamics heterodox economics performative scholarship and queer ecocriticism Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office, 1998 Art, Imagination and Christian Hope Gavin Hopps, 2016-12-05 In hope Christian faith reconfigures the shape of what is familiar in order to pattern the contours of God's promised future In this process the present is continuously re-shaped by ventures of hopeful and expectant living In art this same poetic interplay between past present and future takes specific concrete forms furnishing vital resources for sustaining an imaginative ecology of hope This volume attends to the contributions that architecture drama literature music and painting can make as artists trace patterns of promise resisting the finality of modernity's despairing visions and generating hopeful living in a present which although marked by sin and death is grasped imaginatively as already pregnant with future

The Boston Globe Index, 2001 Environmental and Natural Resource Economics Jonathan M. Harris, Brian Roach, 2025-11-04 Environmental issues are of fundamental importance and a broad approach to understanding the relationship between the human economy and the natural world is essential In a rapidly changing policy and scientific context this new edition of Environmental and Natural Resource Economics continues to reflect an updated perspective on modern environmental topics Now in its sixth edition this textbook includes enhanced and updated material on energy climate change population agriculture forests and water reflecting the greater urgency required to solve global regional and local environmental problems in these areas It introduces students to both standard environmental economics and the broader perspective of ecological economics balancing analytical techniques of environmental economics with a global perspective on current ecological issues such as global climate change ocean degradation plastic pollution water shortages and other environmental challenges Harris and Roach's premise is that a pluralistic approach is essential to understand the complex nexus between the economy and the environment This perspective combined with an emphasis on real world policies is particularly appealing to both instructors and students Environmental and Natural Resource Economics is the ideal text for undergraduate classes on environmental natural resource and ecological economics and other courses on environmental policy Introduction to Homeland Security David H.
