Actual Minds Possible Worlds The Jerusalem Harvard Lectures:

Actual Minds, Possible Worlds Jerome Seymour Bruner, 1987-10-15 Bruner sets forth nothing less than a new agenda for the study of the mind. He examines the irrepressibly human acts of imagination that allow us to make experience meaningful. He calls this side of mental activity the narrative mode and his book makes important advances in the effort to unravel its nature.

The Art of Museum Exhibitions Leslie Bedford, 2016-06-16 Leslie Bedford, former director of the highly regarded Bank Street College museum leadership program, expands the museum professional's vision of exhibitions beyond the simple goal of transmitting knowledge to the visitor. Her view of exhibitions as interactive, emotional, embodied, imaginative experiences opens a new vista for those designing them. Using examples both from her own work at the Boston Children's Museum and from other institutions around the globe, Bedford offers the museum professional a bold new vision built around narrative, imagination, and aesthetics, merging the work of the educator with that of the artist. It is important reading for all museum professionals.

Advanced Imagineering Diane Nijs, 2019 Articulating and illustrating how experience design can unlock experience innovation, this book offers a fresh perspective on effectuating corporate, public, social, and whole system innovation by design. The book makes several contributions to the fields of innovation and design thinking by taking complexity science as its scientific point of reference. As such, this is a highly provocative book for scholars, practitioners, and students in the field of change and innovation.

The Smart Mission Edward J. Hoffman, Matthew Kohut, Laurence Prusak, 2022-08-16 Why human skills and expertise, not technical tools, are what make projects succeed. The project is the basic unit of work in many industries. Software applications, antiviral vaccines, launch-ready spacecraft: all were produced by a team and managed as a project. Project management emphasizes control, processes, and tools, but according to The Smart Mission, that is not the right way to run a project. Human skills and expertise, not technical tools, are what make projects successful. Projects run on knowledge. This paradigm-shifting book by three project management experts, all of whom have decades of experience at NASA and elsewhere, challenges the conventional wisdom on project management, focusing on the human dimension: learning, collaboration, teaming, communication, and culture. The authors emphasize three themes: projects are fundamentally about how teams work and learn together to get things done; the local level, not an organization's upper levels, is where the action happens; and projects don't operate in a vacuum but exist within organizations that are responsible to stakeholders. Drawing on examples and case studies from NASA and other organizations, the authors identify three project models: micro, macro, and global, and their different knowledge needs. Successful organizations have a knowledge-based culture. Successful project management guides the interplay of knowledge, projects, and people.

Culture of Action Enno Freiherr von Fircks, 2025-05-31 The present work introduces innovative research on Symbolic Action Theory, blending theoretical insights
