Aquatic Bioenvironmental Studies The Hanford Experience 1944 1984 Studies In Environmental Science:

Aquatic Bioenvironmental Studies: The Hanford Experience: 1944-1984 C.D. Becker, 1990-09-11 From 1944 1971 the Hanford Reach of the Columbia River in Washington State received quantities of radioisotopes heat and chemicals from up to 8 plutonium reactors Subsequently from 1971 1984 the same part of the river provided cooling water for 3 power production facilities Environmental concerns promoted a series of continuing studies to examine various potential adverse effects No significant impairment of the rivers ecosystem was detected This book reviews these studies and places them in a historical framework It provides a unique overview of studies made over a 40 year period which are now scattered through various published and unpublished documents It should be of interest to all those concerned with aquatic ecology and environmental concerns

Environmental Science Theory W.T. de Groot, 1992-10-22 Having no competitive works this unique publication presents a single structure for the analysis explanation and solution of environmental problems regardless of their location nature or scale In this problem oriented approach a coherent framework interconnects the study of facts and values environmental systems social causes and ethical premises Counterbalancing current biases the author emphasizes the fundamental normative economic and social scientific aspects of truly interdisciplinary environmental science For instance the normative side of environmental problems are often neglected resulting in policy designs and evaluations containing inefficient mixtures of sophisticated models and poorly grounded normative premises this is the first major study to enrich the field with more normative consistency and groundedness It is also the first text to consistently identify the social causes of environmental problems rather than focusing on the physical scientific aspects and thus design deeper and more effective policies Furthermore a tinge of post modern thinking runs throughout the book with special care being taken however to constantly keep in view the practical relevance of theory for problem oriented work The book will be of interest to environmental scientists and managers wishing to improve the consistency and depth of their work to social scientists and geographers wishing to connect their discipline to the environmental problems field and to general scientists interested in the connections between philosophy and practice

Natural Analogue Studies in the Geological Disposal of Radioactive Wastes W.M. Miller, N. Chapman, I. McKinley, R. Alexander, J.A.T. Smellie, 2011-08-18 The first purpose of this book is to provide a comprehensive review of the state of development of natural analogue studies with emphasis on those studies which are relevant to the following repository designs Nagra Switzerland disposal concepts for high level waste low and intermediate level waste SKB Sweden disposal concepts for spent fuel low and intermediate level waste and Nirex UK disposal concept for low and intermediate level waste The book s second aim is to discuss the expanding application of natural analogues for non performance assessment purposes especially their potential for presenting the concept of geological disposal to various interested audiences in a coherent understandable and scientifically legitimate manner Much of the discussion of the book is relevant to concepts for geological disposal of radioactive wastes by other countries and is concerned only with those physico chemical processes which control the release of radionuclides from the near field and their subsequent retardation and transport in the geosphere Chemistry and Biology of Water, Air and Soil J.

Tölgyessy,1993-03-11 Environmental pollution is a universal problem which threatens the continued existence of mankind rendering it one of the primary concerns of society This book provides a comprehensive view of the chemistry and biology of water air and soil particularly those aspects connected with the protection of the environment The first part of the book presents fundamental information on the chemistry and biology of water in its natural state and the effects of water pollution from industry traffic agriculture and urbanization It covers the composition of natural service and wastewaters as well as methods of chemical and biological water analysis and water treatment The second part deals with atmospheric problems particularly the basic composition of atmosphere and the different sources of its pollution methods of restriction and air analysis The final part of the volume focuses on the characteristics of soil and soil components natural and anthropogenous soil processes the chemistry biology and microbiology of soil and soil analysis This book will be of great value to chemists biologists physicians pharmacists farmers veterinarians and university students as well as to those engaged in the sphere of environmental protection Water and Peace in the Middle East J. Isaac,H. Shuval,1994-04-05 The volume serves as an important mile stone in the process called second track dialogue and cooperation between Israeli and Palestinian academics on crucial shared problems the resolution of which is vital to the peace process The book contains forty one original papers dealing with almost all aspects of the Middle Eastern water problems and should serve as a useful reference to students scholars and policy makers all over the world interested in understanding the complexities of the Middle Eastern water conflicts Global Environmental Biotechnology D.L. Wise,1997-07-23 Environmental biotechnology is an emerging field of scientific and technological investigations that is truly global Popular recognition is high for the environmental problems being faced and solved by biotechnology methods This book presents selected papers from the 3rd International Symposium of the International Society for Environmental Biotechnology held in Boston in July 1996 The following topics are covered metals mine drainage removal and toxicity waste treatment monitoring bioremediation water quality biodegradation and local national and international issues in biotechnology Environmental Aspects of Construction with Waste

Materials Th.G. Aalbers,H.A. van der Sloot,J.J.J.M. Goumans,1994-05-20 The concept of Sustainable Development implicating the protection of soil and groundwater the limitation of waste production and the re use of soild waste materials is still the leading theme of WASCON 94 Although it is clearly recognized in most countries that products derived from solid waste materials can be applied as construction materials research is still needed to assess various environmental problems

Environmental Oriented Electrochemistry C.A.C. Sequeira,1994-06-06 This book concentrates on the electrochemistry environment relationship including among others chapters on design and operation of electrochemical reactors and separators process simulation development and scale up optimization and control of electrochemical processes applied to environmental problems also including economic analysis description of unique current and future applications in addition to basic research into developing new technologies It is hoped that this volume will be considered interesting and extremely timely to specialists in electrochemistry and environmental sciences Municipal Solid Waste Incinerator

Residues A.J. Chandler, T.T. Eighmy, O. Hjelm, D.S. Kosson, S.E. Sawell, J. Vehlow, H.A. van der Sloot, J. Hartlén, 1997-04-09

This text covers a broad spectrum of topics pertinent to the management of incinerator residues Background information includes a history of incineration and the influence of municipal waste composition incinerator type air pollution control technologies on residue quality Physical chemical and leaching characteristics for the various ash streams are described along with recommended sampling and evaluation methodologies Residue handling and management options including treatment utilisation and disposal are also discussed in detail Acid Atmospheric Deposition and its Effects on

Terrestrial Ecosystems in The Netherlands G.J. Heij, J.W. Erisman, 1997-05-09 The book begins with an overview of the research topics which were addressed in the three different phases of the Dutch Priority Program on Acidification DPPA executed between 1985 and 1994 This chapter is followed by a chapter which deals with the emissions of acidifying substances the concentrations and the deposition to forest and nature conservation areas Prognoses are given for the acid deposition in 2000 and 2010 the deposition in the countries surrounding the Netherlands is also mentioned The differences in the results of the DPPA II are analysed The third chapter deals with the effects of exposure and load on forests The chapter moves from small scale to large scale first the effects in laboratory scale studies are described then the effects in the field both at stand level and on a regional scale In addition the critical thresholds critical level of concentration and critical load of deposition are discussed The fourth chapter covers terrestrial ecosystems or parts thereof as well as weakly buffered surface waters springs and other streams Critical levels and loads are also discussed The most important results are given in chapter 5 In the appendices of the book so called umbrella theme reports on deposition stand modelling and effects on forests are presented which describe in more detail the scientific work performed in the third phase of the DPPA This book will be of interest to anyone involved in research related to acidification and eutrophication i.e. not only those who perform the research in the causal chain from emissions to effects but also policy makers and students
