African Art in Transit Christopher B. Steiner, 1994-01-27 African Art in Transit is an absorbing account of the commodification and circulation of African art objects in the international art market Christopher Steiner's analysis of the role of the African middleman in linking those who produce and supply works of art in Africa with those who buy and collect so called primitive art in Europe and America is based on extensive field research among the art traders in Cote d'Ivoire Steiner provides a lucid interpretation which reveals not only a complex economic network with its own internal logic and rules but also an elaborate process of transcultural valuation and exchange By focusing directly on the intermediaries in the African art trade he unveils a critical new perspective on how symbolic codes and economic values are mediated in the context of shifting geographic and cultural domains He questions conventional definitions of authenticity in African art by demonstrating how the categories authentic and traditional are continually redefined

Questions of Tradition Mark Salber Phillips, Mark Phillips, Gordon J. Schochet, 2004-01-01 Tradition is a central concern for a wide range of academic disciplines interested in problems of transmitting culture across generations Yet the concept itself has received remarkably little analysis A substantial literature has grown up around the notion of invented tradition but no clear concept of tradition is to be found in these writings since the very notion of invented tradition presupposes a prior concept of tradition and is empty without one this debunking usage has done as much to obscure the idea as to clarify it In the absence of a shared concept the various disciplines have created their own vocabularies to address the subject Useful as they are these specialized vocabularies of which the best known include hybridity canonicity diaspora paradigm and contact zones separate the disciplines and therefore necessarily create only a collection of parochial and disjointed approaches Until now there has been no concerted attempt to put the various disciplines in conversation with one another around the problem of tradition Combining discussions of the idea of tradition by major scholars from a variety of disciplines with synoptic synthesizing essays Questions of Tradition will initiate a renewal of interest in this vital subject In Senghor's Shadow Elizabeth Harney, 2004-11-23 A study of art in post independence Senegal Authentically African Sarah Van Beurden, 2015-11-25 Together the Royal Museum for Central Africa in Tervuren Belgium and the Institut des Mus es Nationaux du Zaire IMNZ in the Congo have defined and marketed Congolese art and culture In Authentically African Sarah Van Beurden traces the relationship between the possession definition and display of art and the construction of cultural authenticity and political legitimacy from the late colonial until the postcolonial era Her study of the interconnected histories of these two institutions is the first history of an art museum in Africa and the only work of its kind in English Drawing on Flemish language sources other scholars have been unable to access Van Beurden illuminates the politics of museum collections showing how the IMNZ became a showpiece in Mobutu s effort to revive authentic African culture She reconstructs debates between Belgian and Congolese museum professionals revealing how the dynamics of decolonization played out in the fields of the museum and international heritage conservation Finally she casts light on the art market showing how the traveling displays put on by the IMNZ helped intensify collectors interest and generate an international market for Congolese art The book contributes to the fields of history art history museum studies and anthropology and challenges existing narratives of Congo s decolonization It tells a new history of decolonization as a struggle over cultural categories the possession of cultural heritage and the right to define and represent cultural identities
