Sociocultural psychology is a discipline located at the crossroads between the natural and social sciences and the humanities. This international overview of the field provides an anti-reductionist and comprehensive account of how experience and behaviour arise from human action with cultural materials in social practices. The outcome is a vision of the dynamics of sociocultural and personal life in which time and developmental constructive transformations are crucial. This second edition provides expanded coverage of how particular cultural artefacts and social practices shape experience and behaviour in the realms of art and aesthetics, economics, history, religion and politics. Special attention is also paid to the development of identity, the self and personhood throughout the lifespan while retaining the emphasis on experience and development as key features of sociocultural psychology Intergenerational Relations Albert, Isabelle, Ferring, Dieter, 2013-06-27

Population ageing today affects most industrialised countries and it will have an impact on many facets of the social system. Intergenerational relationships will play a key role in dealing with the demographical and societal change. This book provides innovative views in the multidisciplinary research field of intergenerational family relations in society with a focus on Europe. Different but complementary perspectives are integrated in one volume bringing together international scholars from sociology, psychology and economics. The book's chapters are grouped into three thematic sections which cover conceptual issues, multigenerational and cross-cultural perspectives as well as applied issues. Implications for research policy and practice are addressed and suggestions for future directions are discussed. By raising recent discussions on controversial issues, this book will stimulate the current discourse at various levels. Intergenerational relations in society and family will be equally interesting for researchers, advanced level students and stakeholders in the fields of social policy, population ageing and intergenerational family relationships International and Interdisciplinary Insights into Evidence and Policy

Linda Hantrais, Ashley Lenihan, Susanne Macgregor, 2018-02-05. Contributors to this highly original book address the many questions raised by researchers and policymakers about the complex and often uneasy relationship between evidence and policy from an international and interdisciplinary perspective. They explore both the institutions acting as evidence brokers and the different methods used to collect, assess and use evidence in a variety of national and international settings by drawing on their experience of working in international contexts and in different disciplinary and policy environments and in some cases analysing their own involvement in the evidence-based policy process. The policy areas covered range from national and state level economic and social policies more generally to specific areas of intervention such as EU bio-fuels, targets, the Active Ageing Index, mental health and media, the construction of second language learning policies, microfinance and alcohol policy. The authors highlight the strengths and weaknesses, the use and abuse or successes and failures of different institutional and methodological approaches to evidence-based policy. They consider what elements of the lessons learned might be transferable across national and cultural boundaries and if so under what conditions This book was originally published as a special issue of Contemporary Social Science Pensions in the European Union: Adapting to Economic and Social Change Gerard Hughes, Jim Stewart, 2012-12-06 The ageing financial and labour market challenges facing the old age pension systems of the member states of the European Union are well known Those who cast doubt on the ability of the present system of pension provision at least to the extent that it is pay as you go financed to cope with the problems posed by these challenges are getting more vociferous Increasingly there are calls for pay as you go systems to be cut back and for funded systems to be expanded This book contests the view that funding is the answer It shows how adaptable the largely pay as you go old age pension systems in the European Union are Actuaries economists lawyers political scientists pension advisers and sociologists from nine European countries and the United States consider four main themes population ageing competitiveness and retirement pension financing and economic growth adapting pension systems to meet change and decision making processes They argue that pay as you go financed old age pension systems in the European Union have the ability to successfully adapt to economic and social change provided they do not take on too many non insurance related risks Solving the problems of the labour market and controlling the direction and extent of economic development are beyond the powers of old age pension systems regardless of how they are structured or financed Separate budgets for separate risks is an indispensable principle if the complex processes of social protection are to be successfully managed monitored and made transparent There can be no single plan for the future development of old age pension systems which would be universally valid for all the countries of the European Union A single solution cannot take into account the special circumstances obtaining in every nation and since respect for the special features of national systems is the basis of popular acceptance the way forward is to reform existing systems in existing contexts Phenomenology and Mind 28 Alessandro Volpe, Maria Russo, 2025-05-30 Alessandro Volpe Exploring Ageing as a Social Fact Introductory Notes SECTION 1 ON GENERATIONS AND INTER AND TRANS GENERATIONALITY Tiziana Andina About the Chain of Generations Alessandro Anz The Transgenerational Action of Growing Old Together Ageism and Future Maker Generations in Ageing Societies Valeria Martino Redesigning Social Groups Understanding the Young Elder Divide Costanza Penna Shared Aging and Transgenerationality Jessica Stanier A Phenomenology of Hesitation Open mindedness and Intergenerational Habitus Formation at Older Age SECTION 2 AGEING WELL IN AN AGEING SOCIETY Francesca Guma Well being in the Elderly the Opportunity and Freedom to Achieve Valuable Functioning Welfare in an Idle Society? Bernd Marin, 2017-10-24 The modern welfare state is indeed one of the greatest achievements of the post war 20th century With its key aims of eradicating the five giant social ills of Want Ignorance Disease Squalor and Idleness it aimed to providing a minimum standard of living with all people of working age paying a weekly contribution in return benefits would be paid to anyone who was sick unemployed retired or widowed The modern welfare state therefore is about maintaining a delicate equilibrium between dependent social groups on the one hand and the active working classes on the other In the case of old age security this balance is being achieved or not by the so called Generation Contract This social pact is more of an implicit unwritten and unspecified social contract This ground breaking book demonstrates how countries are addressing population ageing challenges in depth using the case study of Austria to gain the required complexity and differentiation in a comparative European framework of empirical evidence This is a broad social science study in political economy and sociology not an economic analysis Though focusing on pensions it centres on the im balance between work and non work issues of health work ability employability and benefit receipt from old age security to disability allowance It will be required reading for all sociologists and social policy experts and academics working within this area
