in 1983 The centerpiece of Alfonsín's human rights program was the trial held in a federal court in Buenos Aires in 1985 which resulted in the convictions of five of the leading members of the junta that ruled the country from 1976 to 1983 Placing the Argentine experience in the context of the war crimes trials at Nuremberg Tokyo and elsewhere Nino examines the broader questions raised by human rights trials He considers their political repercussions and their potential for strengthening the new democratic government He explains why prosecutions for human rights violations should be grounded on a theory of the criminal law that emphasizes the preventive rather than retributive functions of punishment Nino rejects the obligation to punish perpetrators of radical evil and argues instead for a more forward looking duty to safeguard democracy This he believes is what ultimately justified the Argentine trials and should be the focus of any international action
