First Biennial Report of the Trustees and Instructor of the Monitorial School, Boston, 1826 (Classic Reprint)

Monitorial School, 2015-07-12 Excerpt from First Biennial Report of the Trustees and Instructor of the Monitorial School Boston 1826 The monitorial school was instituted not only to facilitate the acquisition of knowledge but to render that acquisition a source of pleasure The time we spend at school forms on an average no inconsiderable portion of life and if school can be made a scene of enjoyment as well as of improvement another object of no mean importance is attained That this object is too generally overlooked appears to be not the fault of the pupils but of the cold and irksome system usually pursued in the development of young minds a system in itself sufficiently odious even in the earlier stages of our countrys progress when little was required of scholars beyond an imperfect knowledge of the elementary branches but now become oppressive and injurious from the increased field of knowledge which is presented to the learner by the discoveries and acquisitions of the last half century We find accordingly that children who are taught on the old plan are kept constantly on the stretch to obtain that degree of information which the state of society demands They are pressed when in school and when out of it with lessons which they do not understand and of course cannot relish About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works American Education, 1622-1860, 1984 Everyday Life in the Early Republic Catherine E.
