plays staged in the UK and US and brings the rich fields of Beckett studies and disability studies into mutually illuminating conversation Pairing original interviews with the actors and directors involved in these productions alongside critical analysis underpinned by recent disability and performance theory this book explores how these productions emphasise or rework previously undetected indicators of disability in Beckett's work More broadly it reveals how Beckett's theatre compulsively interrogates alternative embodiments unexpected forms of agency and the extraordinary social interdependency of the human body

Transfiguring medievalism Cary Howie, 2020-12-15 Transfiguring medievalism combines medieval literature modern poetry and theology to explore how bodies including literary bodies can become apparent to the attentive eye as more than they first appear Transfiguration traditionally understood as the revelation of divinity in community becomes a figure for those splendors mundane and divine that await within the read lived and loved world Bringing together medieval sources with modern lyric medievalism the book argues for the porousness of time and flesh not only through the accustomed cadences of scholarly argumentation but also through its own moments of poetic reflection In this way Augustine Cassian Bernard of Clairvaux Dante Boccaccio and the heroes of Old French narrative no more or less than their modern lyric counterparts come to light in new and newly complicated ways
