

Helen Keller

born June 27, 1880
died June 1, 1968

Helen Adams Keller was an American activist, lecturer, and author. She is best known as the first deaf-blind person to earn a bachelor's degree and for her fierce advocacy for women, the poor, and people with disabilities.

Keller contracted an illness at 19 months old that left her deaf and blind. By age 7 she could communicate with around 60 signs and recognize family members by their footsteps. Her parents got in touch with Alexander Graham Bell, which led to her introduction to Anne Sullivan, her communications teacher with whom she would have a 50-year companionship.

Sullivan began to teach Keller on March 5, 1887, and was a central focus of Keller's novel, My Story, which was the basis for the play and film, The Miracle Worker. Keller learned to speak, read braille, read lips by touching the speaker's mouth, and read sign language by touching hands. She graduated Phi Beta Kappa from Radcliffe College in 1904 with a Bachelor of Arts degree.

Keller became famous around the world as a lecturer and activist. She was a radical socialist and opponent of Woodrow Wilson, researching and sharing the factors of poverty that contributed to disabilities and health issues. She was also a suffragist, pro-birth control, and anti-war. Her strong progressive stances led Rockefeller-owned media to refuse to print her work, but she protested until he reversed his stance. She also helped found the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) in 1920, contributed funds to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), and joined the Industrial Workers of the World in 1912. Her legacy is complicated by her pro-eugenics stance.
