International-Led Statebuilding and Local Resistance Arolda Elbasani,2020-05-21 International Led Statebuilding and Local Resistance contributes theoretical and empirical insights to the existing knowledge on the scope challenges and results of post conflict international state and institution building project focusing on post war Kosovo Post war Kosovo is one of the high profile cases of international intervention hosting a series of international missions besides a massive inflow of international aid technical assistance and foreign experts Theoretically the book goes beyond the standard narrative of international top down institution building by exploring how international and local factors interact bringing in the mediating role of local resistance and highlighting the hybridity of institutional change Empirically the book tests those alternative explanations in key areas of institutional reform municipal governance public administration normalization of relations with Serbia high education creation of armed forces the security sector and the hold of Salafi ideologies The findings speak to timely and pertinent issues regarding the limits of international promotion of effective institutions the mediating role of local agents and the hybrid forms of institution building taking shape in post conflict Kosovo and similar post war contexts more broadly Addressing challenges of state building at the intersection of international interventions local strategies of resistance and the hybridity of institution building experience with institutional reforms in Kosovo and in post conflict contexts more broadly International Led Statebuilding and Local Resistance will be of great interest to scholars of international relations state building and post conflict societies The chapters were originally published as a special issue of Southeast European and Black Sea Studies

Foreign Policy in the Age of Globalization, Populism and Nationalism Fred Aja Agwu,2021-06-25 This book propounds the thesis that it was the dysfunction of globalization and liberalism that prompted the rise of nationalism and populism Recent developments in global affairs are challenging assumptions and the basis upon which international relations as a broad field of specialization and foreign policy analysis as a sub field rests In a world that is changing in fundamental and irreversible ways this book intervenes to enable an improved sense of understanding of these developments and what they mean for people people state state continent continent and global relations moving forward The author shows anti globalization and the growth of nationalism and populism have been particularly necessitated by the failures of liberalism and America s abdication from the world With reference to Brexit the pandemic the US 2020 elections and consequent shifts in power with a focus on their respective impacts on Africa and Africa Sino relations particularly and developing countries more broadly this book situates these discussions within a global context It effectively illustrates the insufficiency of the West s soft power especially as it is foisted or supposedly imposed on the rest of the world without regard to the demands of cultural relativity Relevant to postgraduate students researchers and policymakers this is must read within the fields of international relations and political economy You've Got Dissent!

Chinese Dissident Use of the Internet and Beijing's Counter-Strategies Michael S. Chase, James C. Mulvenon, 2002-07-08 An analysis of the political use of the Internet by Chinese dissidents both in the PRC and abroad and the counterstrategies that Beijing has employed to prevent or minimize its impact Although PRC officials have responded to the increased use of the Internet with predominantly traditional measures they have been relatively successful No credible challenges to the regime exist at present despite the introduction of a massive modern telecommunications infrastructure However time may be on the side of the regime s opponents The Race to Zero Paul H. Tice, 2024-02-20 Paul Tice delivers a body blow to the predations of the ESG industrial complex Mark P Mills Senior Fellow Manhattan Institute Over the past few years sustainable investing which is based on the theory that subjective environmental social and governance or ESG factors should drive corporate policy and investment decisions has swept across Wall Street spurred on by the United Nations sovereign governments and financial regulators and cheered on by academics environmental activists social justice warriors and the media To date there has been little public resistance or analytical pushback as the ESG orthodoxy has integrated itself into almost every corner of the financial markets By 2030 the iron curtain of sustainability will have fully descended across Wall Street Race to Zero is meant to provide a detailed rebuttal to the case for sustainable investing from the perspective of a long time Wall Street analyst and investor and latter day finance professor Sustainable investing is a scam because it is not about generating excess returns for investors or furthering ethical goals such as improving society or saving the planet rather it is about controlling the world s financial system and determining the allocation of capital and investment flows across the markets It is liberal progressive politics masquerading as finance whose objective is to create a compliant corporate sector that serves as both Greek chorus and funding source for the environmental and social causes championed by government and the elite class This book is designed to expose this truth in plain spoken language free of financial jargon to reach the widest possible audience including the silent majority on Wall Street now afraid to speak up about ESG Pathways to Positive Public Administration Patrick Lucas, Tina Nabatchi, Janine O'Flynn, Paul O'Hart, 2024-08-06 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4.0 License It is free to read download and share on Elgaronline.com Situated in an era of low trust in government and a pervasive negativity bias that has shaped the field this insightful volume examines the foundations practices and tools of a distinctly positive strand of public administration PPA It advocates for a more optimistic approach to the study of what government does how they do it and to what effect Death Makes the News Jessica M. Fishman, 2017-11-21 Acknowledgments Introduction Death concealed the picture problem Cold bodies are hot stuff Alternative images The industry's ample access Intentionally ambiguous images Layers of resistance Word versus image Death revealed exceptions to the rule Pictures in the popular and patrician press Nationality and the newsworthy image Innocence and the newsworthy victim Mass tragedy and the biggest disasters The fantastic feats of some photos Victims seeking visibility In the end Appendix defining a postmortem picture Notes Index About the author
