How does coding change the way we think about architecture This question opens up an important research perspective In this book Miro Roman and his AI Alice_ch3n81 develop a playful scenario in which they propose coding as the new literacy of information They convey knowledge in the form of a project model that links the fields of architecture and information through two interwoven narrative strands in an infinite flow of real books Focusing on the intersection of information technology and architectural formulation the authors create an evolving intellectual reflection on digital architecture and computer science The Monteverdi Vespers of 1610 : Music, Context, Performance Jeffrey Kurtzman, 2000-01-06

This is a thorough going study of Monteverdi's Vespers the single most significant and most widely known musical print from before the time of J S Bach The author examines Monteverdi's Vespers from multiple perspectives combining his own research with all that is known and thought of the Vespers by other scholars The historical origin as well as the musical and liturgical context of the Vespers are surveyed similarly the controversial historiography of the Vespers in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries is scrutinized and evaluated A series of analytical chapters attempt to clarify Monteverdi's compositional process and the relationship between music and text in the light of recent research on modal and tonal aspects of early seventeenth century music The final section is devoted to thirteen chapters investigating performance practice issues of the early seventeenth century and their application to the Vespers including general and specific recommendations for performance where appropriate The book concludes with a series of informational appendices including the psalm cursus for Vespers of all major feasts in the liturgical calendar texts and structural outlines for the Vespers compositions based on a cantus firmus an analytical discography and bibliographies of seventeenth century musical and theoretical sources
