Furthermore communication technologies do not lag behind. The Internet has been widely used as well as wireless technologies. With a few mouse clicks people can communicate with each other around the world. All these advances have great potential to change the way people live, introducing new concepts like ubiquitous computing and ambient intelligence. Technology is becoming present everywhere in the form of smart and sensitive computing devices. They are nonintrusive, transparent, and hidden in the background, but they collect, process, and share all kinds of information, including user behavior, in order to act in an intelligent and adaptive way. These emerging technologies put new requirements on security and data management. As data are accessible anytime anywhere, it becomes much easier to get unauthorized data access. Furthermore, the use of new technologies has brought about some privacy concerns. It becomes simpler to collect, store, and search personal information, thereby endangering people's privacy. Therefore, research in secure data management is gaining importance, attracting the attention of both the data management and the security research communities. The interesting problems range from traditional topics such as access control and general database security via privacy protection to new research directions such as cryptographically enforced access control.
