Operation Manual for Rochester Ion Meter and Accessory Chambers William Freer Bale, 1949 This instrument is designed for the detection and measurement of a group of ionizing radiations Interchangeable ionization chambers have been constructed for the measurement of 1 beta and gamma radiations 2 surface and hand monitoring of alpha radiations 3 alpha and beta radiation of dust samples collected in precipitron tubes and 4 fast neutrons Moderate to high radiation intensities are measured by direct continuous deflection of a microammeter indicating changes in plate current of a 1LN5 tube used as an electrometer tube Low intensities of radiation are measured by allowing the charge due to the ionization current to collect on one plate of a condenser The other plate connects to the grid of the electrometer tube and to ground through a high resistance During the period of charge collection the two condenser plates are electrically shielded from one another by a grounded metal vane inserted between them On removing this vane the charge on the first plate of the condenser is communicated to the second plate and thus to the tube grid A transient meter deflection then occurs proportional to the product of ionization current and ion collection time A two pole triple throw switch allows the output meter to be connected in test 1 position to measure screen grid current in test 2 position to set tube voltages to reproducible values and in Operate position to measure changes in plate current Intelligent Assembly and Disassembly Peter Kopacek, Dragica Noe, 1998 Paperback Rapid development observed in modern production is firmly connected with the development of new assembly and disassembly systems In small batch production where fast changes of products and short development times of new products are demanded development of reliable fast adaptable and self teaching assembly systems can be observed Important fields of product development such as product design development of planning systems simulation and modelling logistics mechatronics and sensors development of new assembly system components as well as collecting and processing of knowledge are essential for the development of new intelligent assembly systems IAS The aim of this colloquium specialised on IAD is to highlight this topic show the actual results of the research and development work set the direction of future development and analyse the possibilities of introducing of IAD into the production process Papers presented at the w

Robotics, Vision and Control Peter Corke, 2011-11-03 The practice of robotics and computer vision both involve the application of computational algorithms to data Over the fairly recent history of the fields of robotics and computer vision a very large body of algorithms has been developed However this body of knowledge is something of a barrier for anybody entering the field or even looking to see if they want to enter the field What is the right algorithm for a particular problem and importantly How can I try it out without spending days coding and debugging it from the original research papers The author has maintained two open source MATLAB Toolboxes for more than 10 years one for robotics and one for vision The key strength of the Toolboxes provide a set of tools that allow the user to work with real problems not trivial examples For the student the book makes the algorithms accessible the Toolbox code can be read to gain understanding and the examples illustrate how it can be used instant gratification in just a couple of lines of MATLAB code The code can also be the starting point for new work for researchers or students by writing programs based on Toolbox functions or modifying the Toolbox code itself The purpose of this book is to expand on the tutorial material provided with the toolboxes add many more examples and to weave this into a narrative that covers robotics and computer vision separately and together The author shows how complex problems can be decomposed and solved using just a few simple lines of code and hopefully to inspire up and coming researchers The topics covered are guided by the real problems observed over many years as a practitioner of both robotics and computer vision It is written in a light but informative style it is easy to read and absorb and includes a lot of Matlab examples and figures The book is a real walk through the fundamentals of robot kinematics dynamics and joint level control then camera models image processing feature extraction and epipolar geometry and bring it all together in a visual servo system Additional material is provided at <http://www.petercorke.com> RVC
