Traditionally industrial robots have been used on mass production lines where the same manufacturing operation is repeated many times. Recent advances in human safe industrial robots present an opportunity for creating hybrid work cells where humans and robots can collaborate in close physical proximities. This Cobots or collaborative robots has opened up to opportunity for humans and robots to work more closely together. Recent advances in artificial intelligence are striving to make industrial robots more agile with the ability to adapt to changing environments and tasks. Additionally recent advances in force and tactile sensing enable robots to be used in complex manufacturing tasks. These new capabilities are expanding the role of robotics in manufacturing operations and leading to significant growth in the industrial robotics area. The third technology covered in Volume 3 is augmented and virtual reality. Augmented and virtual reality AR VR technologies are being leveraged by the manufacturing community to improve operations in a wide variety of ways. Traditional applications have included operator training and design visualization with more recent applications including interactive design and manufacturing planning, human and robot interactions, ergonomic analysis, information and knowledge capture and manufacturing simulation. The advent of low cost solutions in these areas is accepted to accelerate the rate of adoption of these technologies in the manufacturing and related sectors.
