The Future of Post-human Space-time Peter Baofu,2006 Contrary to the conventional wisdom held by many in much of human history in this book Peter Baofu here proposes what he calls the perspectival theory of space time According to this theory there are multiple perspectives of space and time in society culture the mind and nature all of which are subject to the regression progression principle in existential dialectics These perspectives exist in society culture the mind and nature with good reasons being subject to the symmetry asymmetry principle in existential dialectics and with some being more successful and hegemonic dominant than others Furthermore and more importantly in the long haul space and time as humans have known them will end and will eventually be altered by post humans in different forms be they here in this universe or in multiverses subject to the change constancy principle in existential dialectics Art Matters Eileen S. Prince,2002-03 This collection of ideas and lesson plans will help classroom and homeschool teachers integrate art into their general curriculum These inventive and effective methods use the visual arts to inspire creative writing and drama explore math music science and history and cultivate critical thinking skills Art instructors will learn strategies for incorporating other areas of study into the art classroom Ranging from thought provoking suggestions to concrete hands on lesson plans these activities include an extensive resource list for classroom teachers without an art background The Planetary Clock Paul Giles,2021-02-11 The theme of The Planetary Clock is the representation of time in postmodern culture and the way temporality as a global phenomenon manifests itself differently across an antipodean axis To trace postmodernism in an expansive spatial and temporal arc from its formal experimentation in the 1960s to environmental concerns in the twenty first century is to describe a richer and more complex version of this cultural phenomenon Exploring different scales of time from a Southern Hemisphere perspective with a special emphasis on issues of Indigeneity and the Anthropocene The Planetary Clock offers a wide ranging revisionist account of postmodernism reinterpreting literature film music and visual art of the post 1960 period within a planetary framework By bringing the culture of Australia and New Zealand into dialogue with other Western narratives it suggests how an antipodean impulse involving the transposition of the world into different spatial and temporal dimensions has long been an integral if generally occluded aspect of postmodernism Taking its title from a Florentine clock designed in 1510 to measure worldly time alongside the rotation of the planets The Planetary Clock ranges across well known American postmodernists John Barth Toni Morrison to more recent science fiction writers Octavia Butler Richard Powers while bringing the US tradition into juxtaposition with both its English Philip Larkin Ian McEwan and Australian Les Murray Alexis Wright counterparts By aligning cultural postmodernism with music Messiaen Ligeti Birtwistle the visual arts Hockney Blackman Fiona Hall and cinema Rohmer Haneke Tarantino this volume enlarges our understanding of global postmodernism for the twenty first century

Modernist Aesthetics in Taiwanese Poetry since the 1950s Chung-to Au,2008-05-31 Much of the previous scholarship on Taiwanese modernist poetry easily falls into ideological arguments This book participates in the development of an alternative approach to understanding Taiwanese modernist poetry Dr Au s approach emphasizes the diversity and intensity of experiences of place and placelessness in the work of five poets Lomen Luo Fu Rong Zi Yu Guangzhong and Zheng Chouyu The phenomenon of placelessness is a problem in all modernity and so modern aesthetics is an outgrowth of modern society s sense of placelessness This book not only shows how place becomes placelessness but also analyses Taiwanese modernist poets responses to the phenomenon of placelessness Four kinds of places are examined namely the house the city homeland and an imagined literary community in this work The result is both refreshing and original

Mapping and Politics in the Digital Age Pol Bargaúes-Pedreny, David Chandler, Elena Simon, 2018-11-06

Throughout history maps have been a powerful tool in the constitutive imaginary of governments seeking to define or contest the limits of their political reach. Today new digital technologies have become central to mapping as a way of formulating alternative political visions. Mapping can also help marginalised communities to construct speculative designs using participatory practices. Mapping and Politics in the Digital Age explores how the development of new digital technologies and mapping practices are transforming global politics, power and cooperation. The book brings together authors from across political and social theory, geography, media studies and anthropology to explore mapping and politics across three sections. Contestations introduces the reader to contemporary developments within mapping and explores the politics of mapping as a form of knowledge and contestation. Governance analyses mapping as a set of institutional practices providing key methodological frames for understanding global governance in the realms of urban politics, refugee control, health crises and humanitarian interventions, and new techniques of biometric regulation and autonomic computation. Imaginaries provides examples of future-oriented analytical frameworks highlighting the transformation of mapping in an age of digital technologies of control and regulation. In a world conceived as without borders and fixed relations, new forms of mapping stress the need to rethink assumptions of power and knowledge. This book provides a sophisticated and nuanced analysis of the role of mapping in contemporary global governance and will be of interest to students and researchers working within politics, geography, sociology, media and digital culture and technology.
