A Medieval French Reader:

A Medieval French Reader Clifford W. Aspland, 1979 Historical French reader, medieval period Paul Studer, Edwin George Ross Waters, 1924 Historical French reader Paul Studer, Edwin George Ross Waters, 1967 A History of the French Language Through Texts Wendy Ayres-Bennett, 2005-06-27 This new history of the French language allows the reader to see how the language has evolved for themselves It combines texts and extracts with a readable and detailed commentary allowing the language to be viewed both synchronically and diachronically Core texts range from the ninth century to the present day highlight central features of the language whilst a range of shorter texts illustrate particular points The inclusion of non literary as well as literary texts serves to illustrate some of the many varieties of French whether in legal scientific epistolary administrative or liturgical or in more popular domains including attempts to represent spoken usage This is essential reading for the undergraduate student of French An introductory reader to medieval French, 1982

The General Reader and the Academy Leah Tether, 2019-05-30 Penguin Classics have built their reputation as one of the largest and most successful modern imprints for classic texts on the notion of the general reader Following an interrogation of this idea Leah Tether investigates the publication of medieval French literature on this list and shines a light on the drivers motivations negotiations and decision making processes behind it Focusing on the medieval French texts published between c 1956 and 2000 Tether demonstrates that rather than Penguin s frequently cited general reader a more academic market may have contributed to ensuring the success of these titles An Anglo-Norman Reader Jane Bliss, 2018-02-08 This book is an anthology with a difference It presents a distinctive variety of Anglo Norman works beginning in the twelfth century and ending in the nineteenth covering a broad range of genres and writers introduced in a lively and thought provoking way Facing page translations into accessible and engaging modern English are provided throughout bringing these texts to life for a contemporary audience The collection offers a selection of fascinating passages and whole texts many of which are not anthologised or translated anywhere else It explores little known byways of Arthurian legend and stories of real life crime and punishment women s voices tell history write letters berate pagans advice is offered on how to win friends and influence people how to cure people s ailments and how to keep clear of the law and stories from the Bible are retold with commentary together with guidance on prayer and confession Each text is introduced and elucidated with notes and full references and the material is divided into three main sections Story a variety of narrative forms Miscellany including letters law and medicine and other non fiction and Religious saints lives sermons Bible commentary and prayers Passages in one genre have been chosen so as to reflect themes or stories that appear in another so that the book can be enjoyed as a collection or used as a resource to dip into for selected texts This anthology is essential reading for students and scholars of Anglo Norman and medieval literature and culture Wide ranging and fully referenced it can be used as a springboard for further study or relished in its own right by readers interested to discover Anglo Norman literature that was written to amuse instruct entertain or admonish medieval audiences Historical French Reader, Medieval Period Paul Studer, 1970 Women Readers and the Ideology of Gender in Old French Verse Romance Roberta L. Krueger, 2005-02-17 This study challenges the view that all courtly literature promoted the social status of women Unlike previous books which focused on knights it starts from the perspective of the woman reader listener Using reader response theory feminist criticism and recent historical studies it suggests that romances taught gender roles often inviting readers to criticise and resist them

Historical French Reader Paul Studer, Edwin George Ross Waters, 1924
