Letters to Ebay Art Farkas, 2007-08-30 By day Paul Meadors is a fifth grade teacher in a small California town By night he trolls the millions of items for sale on eBay posing as his alter ego Art Farkas and catching sellers off guard with his ludicrous and bizarre questions about their auctions As he amusingly demonstrates time and time again even in today's hyper vigilant and impersonal digital world the spirit of human salesmanship lives on no matter how outrageous the question or request For example Art asks the seller of a set of bongo drums if there would be a way to attach them to his grandmother's back so that she could take them to the corner and play on the street to earn her rent money which elicits a sincere yet bitingly humorous response From the entertaining auctions themselves to Paul's loony letters and the serious responses they provoke Letters to eBay provides a fascinating and humorous glimpse into the strange world of eBay and those who dwell within major publications and journalists who have shaped this criticism influencing the public's ideas about the music's significance and quality. The contributors to the volume include academics and journalists; several wear both hats and some are musicians as well. Their essays illuminate the complex relationships of the music industry, print media, critical practice, and rock culture. And they repeatedly dispel the notion that being a journalist is the next best thing to being a rock star. Author note: Steve Jones is Professor of Communication at the University of Illinois, Chicago. Among his books are CyberSociety: Computer Mediated Communication and Community, editor of Rock Formation: Popular Music Technology and Mass Communication.
