Office of Management and Budget,2009 Getting It Done Tom Daschle,David Nather,2025-10-16 Senator Tom Daschle s narrative of what went on behind the scenes in the making of the new health care legislation delivers a powerful lesson in the workings of American politics The evolution of health care reform was drawn out frustrating and complicated but Senator Tom Daschle is the ideal person to recount the process His account will guide you through the entire story from the earliest presidential campaign debates and his firsthand experiences in the Obama team through the battles on Capitol Hill to solve our most serious health care problems Not simply a book about policy Daschle s narrative describes in vivid detail how fragile the support in Congress was at every step of the way as well as the frantic efforts to design a rescue strategy before time ran out Combining his insights as a health care expert and his political expertise this is the inside story about how the new legislation came together from the persistence of President Obama to the subsequent efforts and counter efforts within the Senate and the House In Daschle s hands this becomes a dramatic personal story and a remarkable lesson in politics at the highest level Climate Change and the Crisis of Capitalism Mark Pelling,David Manuel-Navarrete,Michael Redclift,2012-08-21 Are established economic social and political practices capable of dealing with the combined crises of climate change and the global economic system Will falling back on the wisdoms that contributed to the crisis help us to find ways forward or simply reconfigure risk in another guise This volume argues that the combination of global environmental change and global economic restructuring require a re thinking of the priorities processes and underlying values that shape contemporary development aspirations and policy This volume brings together leading scholars to address these questions from several disciplinary perspectives environmental sociology human geography international development systems thinking political sciences philosophy economics and policy management science The book is divided into four sections that examine contemporary development discourses and practices It bridges geographical and disciplinary divides and includes chapters on innovative governance that confront unsustainable economic and environmental relations in both developing and developed contexts It emphasises the ways in which dominant development paths have necessarily forced a separation of individuals from nature but also from society and even from self These three levels of alienation each form a thread that runs through the book There are different levels and opportunities for a transition towards resilience raising questions surrounding identity governance and ecological management This places resilience at the heart of the contemporary crisis of capitalism and speaks to the relationship between the increasingly global forms of economic development and the difficulties in framing solutions to the environmental problems that carbon based development brings in its wake Existing social science can help in not only identifying the challenges but also potential pathways for making change locally and in wider political economic and cultural systems but it must do so by identifying transitions out of carbon dependency and the kind of political challenges they imply for reflexive individuals and alternative community approaches to human security and wellbeing Climate Change and the Crisis of Capitalism contains contributions from leading scholars to produce a rich and cohesive set of arguments from a range of theoretical and empirical viewpoints It analyses the problem of resilience under existing circumstances but also goes beyond this to seek ways in which resilience can provide a better pathway and template for a more sustainable future This volume will be of interest to both undergraduate and postgraduate students studying Human Geography Environmental Policy and Politics
