Habitat, Economy and Society in the Central Africa Rain Forest Jan Vansina, 1992-11 Over 50 years ago the renowned anthropologist Daryll Forde strongly advocated comparative anthropological studies Professor Vansina argues that 50 years later Forde s criticisms still apply despite both Forde s considerable intellectual legacy and an exponential increase in available information Using the example of Central African peoples Professor Vansina challenges the current scholarship of sociologists and anthropologists and makes a compelling case for broad historical comparative studies

High-Latitude Rainforests and Associated Ecosystems of the West Coast of the Americas Richard G. Lawford, Paul Alaback, Eduardo Fuentes, 2012-12-06 Regional intercomparisons between ecosystems on different continents can be a powerful tool to better understand the ways in which ecosystems respond to global change Large areas are often needed to characterize the causal mechanisms governing interactions between ecozones and their environments Factors such as weather and climate patterns land ocean and land atmosphere interactions all play important roles As a result of the strong physical north south symmetry between the western coasts of North and South America the similarities in climate coastal oceanography and physiography between these two regions have been extensively documented High Latitude Rain Forests and Associated Ecosystems of the West Coast of the Americas presents current research on West Coast forest and river ecology and compares ecosystems of the Pacific Northwest with those of South America
