Transforming Public Services by Design Sabine Junginger,2016-12-01 For policy makers and policy implementers design challenges abound Every design challenge presents an opportunity for change and transformation To get from policy intent to policy outcome however is not a straightforward journey It involves people and services as much as it involves policies and organizations Of all organizations perhaps government agencies are perceived to be the least likely to change They are embedded in enormous bureaucratic structures that have grown over decades if not centuries In effect many people have given up hope that such an institution

can ever change its ways of doing business And yet from a human centered design perspective they present a fabulous challenge Designed by people for people they have a mandate to be citizen centered but they often fall short of this goal If human centered design can make a difference in this organizational context it is likely to have an equal or greater impact on an organization that shows more flexibility for example one that is smaller in size and less entangled in legal or political frameworks Transforming Public Services by Design offers a human centered design perspective on policies organizations and services Three design projects by large scale government agencies illustrate the implications for organizations and the people involved in designing public services the Tax Forms Simplification Project by the Internal Revenue Service 1978 1983 the Domestic Mail Manual Transformation Project by the United States Postal Service 2001 2005 and the Integrated Tax Design Project by the Australian Tax Office These case studies offer a unique demonstration of the role of human centered design in policy context This book aims to support designers and managers of all backgrounds who want to know more about reorienting policies organizations and services around people The Australian Policy Handbook Glyn Davis, Catherine Althaus, 2020-07-16 Public policy permeates every aspect of our lives It is the stuff of government justifying taxes driving legislation and shaping our social services Public policy gives us roads railways and airports emergency services industry development and natural resource management While politicians make the decisions public servants provide analysis and support for those choices Drawing on their extensive practical experience the authors outline the processes used in making public policy They systematically explain the relationships between political decision makers public service advisers other community participants and those charged with implementing the programs that result The sixth edition of this widely used introduction is fully updated and includes new material on the professionalisation of politicians the role of opposition members loss of corporate memory in the public service addressing systemic policy failure nudge economics and the impact of social media and the sharing economy on policy making and government An invaluable guide for practitioners academics and students to the craft of policy analysis development and evaluation It is an important resource for those with a commitment to sound evidence based public policy Ken Smith ANZSOG CEO and Dean An enduring and important contribution to the field Althaus Bridgman and Davis pioneering policy cycle approach continues to offer vital insights into the policy making process in Australia and internationally Lisa Paul AO PSM Former Secretary of the Department of Education
