Using Swept Sines Stephen Lee Rauch, 1997 Manufacturing Facilities Design and Material Handling Matthew P. Stephens, Fred E. Meyers, 2013 Designed for junior and senior level courses in Plant and Facilities Planning and Manufacturing Systems and Procedures this textbook is also suitable for graduate level and two year college courses The book takes a practical hands on project oriented approach to exploring the techniques and procedures for developing an efficient facility layout It also introduces state of the art tools including computer simulation Access to Layout iQ workspace planning software is included for purchasers of the book Theoretical concepts are clearly explained and then rapidly applied to a practical setting through a detailed case study at the end of the volume The book systematically leads students through the collection analysis and development of information to produce a quality functional plant layout for a lean manufacturing environment All aspects of facility design from receiving to shipping are covered In the fifth edition of this successful book previously published by Prentice Hall numerous updates and corrections have been made Also rather than including brief case in point examples at the end of each chapter a single detailed case study is provided that better exposes students to the multiple considerations that need to be taken into account when improving efficiency in a real manufacturing facility The textbook has enjoyed substantial international adoptions and has been translated into Spanish and Chinese This replaces the 4th Edition by Prentice Hall ISBN 978 0135001059

Management and Visualisation Gordon Fletcher, 2022-12-27 As organisations of all sizes become increasingly digitalised a core management challenge remains unresolved The ability to successfully and sustainably connect the stated vision of an organisation with its strategic plans and in turn with the reported reality of day to day operations is largely an elusive ambition despite the many stated advantages provided by contemporary technologies In this book the case is made for visual management as a method of communications planning learning and reporting that connects the organisation in a single meaningful and seamless way Throughout this book visual management is theorised around the position that all forms of management documentation are an artefact of human construction and of the organisation itself that reflect learned patterns of activity The book places visual management as a more intuitive and seamless method of coordinating learning and communicating across an organisation than more traditional formats of presenting management documents Consciously assembling the artefacts of an organisation in order to manage it introduces a layer of criticality that encourages reflection and consistency that is often absent from current management practice The benefits that a visual approach brings to organisational management are an increasing necessity as machine learning robotics and process automation remove traditional roles from organisations and necessitate new views on how individuals now fit into a data informed business The book contributes to the academic debate regarding resource based and knowledge based views of the organisation by advocating a different more holistic viewpoint and will thus appeal to academics and researchers in this area It would also benefit students across business disciplines whilst the practical models and tools offered will benefit directors and managers looking to implement their own visual organisational language

Theory of Factorial Design Ching-Shui Cheng, 2016-04-19 Bringing together both new and old results Theory of Factorial Design Single and Multi Stratum Experiments provides a rigorous systematic and up to date treatment of the theoretical aspects of factorial design To prepare readers for a general theory the author first presents a unified treatment of several simple designs including completely randomized designs block designs and row column designs As such the book is accessible to readers with minimal exposure to experimental design With exercises and numerous examples it is suitable as a reference for researchers and as a textbook for advanced graduate students In addition to traditional topics and a thorough discussion of the popular minimum aberration criterion the book covers many topics and new results not found in existing books These include results on the structures of two level resolution IV designs methods for constructing such designs beyond the familiar foldover method the extension of minimum aberration to nonregular designs the equivalence of generalized minimum aberration and minimum moment aberration a Bayesian approach and some results on nonregular designs The book also presents a theory that provides a unifying framework for the design and analysis of factorial experiments with multiple strata error terms arising from complicated structures of the experimental units This theory can be systematically applied to various structures of experimental units instead of treating each on a case by case basis
