Advances In Lipid Methodology Oily Press Lipid Library Series:

Advances in Lipid Methodology W. W. Christie, 1997-05-01 This is the fourth volume of an occasional series of review volumes dealing with aspects of lipid methodology. As with the first three volumes, topics have been selected that have been developing rapidly in recent years and have some importance to lipid analysis. The authors are all leading international experts. Topics covered include analysis of plant lipoxygenase metabolites, preparative high performance liquid chromatography of lipids, structural analysis of fatty acids and analysis of stable isotopes in lipids among others.

Advances in Lipid Methodology R O Adlof, 2003-10-01 The fifth volume in the Advances in lipid methodology series is the first with new editor Richard O Adlof but its objectives are still those of the previous editor William W Christie. To provide readable up to date reviews of rapidly expanding areas of lipid analysis and practical examples which should be of immediate use to lipid analysts. As in the previous volumes of Advances in lipid methodology the editor has chosen leading international experts to write individual chapters. Volume 5 contains four chapters on specific methodologies of lipid analysis and three which describe specific applications or standardization of methods. The methodologies are different: scanning calorimetry for the study of physical properties of fats and oils, silver ion chromatography, atmospheric pressure chemical ionization mass spectrometry, APCI MS and supercritical fluid chromatography, SFC. Chapters on specific applications cover the analysis of genetically modified oils and the use of fatty acid profiling in the characterization of metabolic diseases. A further chapter provides an overview of the official standard methods used for fats and oils analysis and gives extensive listings of information on standards organizations.

Advances in Lipid Methodology W. W. Christie, 1996-01-01 This is the third volume of an occasional series of review volumes dealing with aspects of lipid methodology. As with the first two volumes, topics have been selected that have been developing rapidly in recent years and have some importance to lipid analysis. The authors are all leading international experts. Topics covered include analysis of positional isomers of glycerolipids by non enzymatic methods, separation of phospholipid classes by high performance liquid chromatography and nuclear magnetic resonance spectroscopy and lipid phase behaviour and lipid diffusion among others.

Advances in Lipid Methodology, 1996
Applications of Supercritical Fluid Extraction in Food Processing Preeti Birwal, Megh R. Goyal, C. K. Sunil, 2025-09-17 Preservation of food is a top priority in today's food processing industry which focuses on nutrients, texture and sensorial characteristics of food products. Supercritical fluid extraction is a process that is a green method that allows rapid extraction of bioactive compounds at reduced cost. This new volume investigates technologies within this extraction process, starting with an introduction and proceeding on to the design applications for quality and regulatory aspects. A wide range of research demonstrating the successful application of this method in different food products, ranging from milk, meat, fish, grains, fruits and vegetables and other foods, is discussed. The book explores the opportunities and challenges, properties, chemistry, fluids, operating conditions and yield modeling of supercritical fluid extraction analytical applications.

Christie,1992 Lipid Oxidation Edwin N. Frankel,2014-01-23 In this second edition Edwin Frankel has updated and extended his now well known book Lipid oxidation which has come to be regarded as the standard work on the subject since the publication of the first edition seven years previously His main objective is to develop the background necessary for a better understanding of what factors should be considered and what methods and lipid systems should be employed to achieve suitable evaluation and control of lipid oxidation in complex foods and biological systems The oxidation of unsaturated fatty acids is one of the most fundamental reactions in lipid chemistry When unsaturated lipids are exposed to air the complex volatile oxidation compounds that are formed cause rancidity This decreases the quality of foods that contain natural lipid components as well as foods in which oils are used as ingredients Furthermore products of lipid oxidation have been implicated in many vital biological reactions and evidence has accumulated to show that free radicals and reactive oxygen species participate in tissue injuries and in degenerative disease Although there have been many significant advances in this challenging field many important problems remain unsolved This second edition of Lipid oxidation follows the example of the first edition in offering a summary of the many unsolved problems that need further research The need to understand lipid oxidation is greater than ever with the increased interest in long chain polyunsaturated fatty acids the reformulation of oils to avoid hydrogenation and trans fatty acids and the enormous attention given to natural phenolic antioxidants including flavonoids and other phytochemicals Lipids Michael I. Gurr,John L. Harwood,Keith N. Frayn,Denis J. Murphy,Robert H. Michell,2016-06-10 For the 6th Edition of this highly regarded textbook devoted to lipids the title has been modified from Lipid Biochemistry to Lipids to acknowledge the coming together of biological and medical sciences the increasingly blurred boundaries between them and the growing importance of lipids in diverse aspects of science and technology The principal aims of this new edition to inform students and researchers about lipids to assist teachers and encourage further research have not changed since previous editions Significant advances in lipid science have demanded yet another extensive rewriting for this edition with the addition of two new authors to cover new knowledge of genes coding for proteins involved in lipid metabolism the many lipids involved in cell signalling the roles of lipids in health and disease and new developments in biotechnology in support of agriculture and industry An introductory chapter summarizes the types of lipids covered and their identification and provides a guide to the contents Chapters contain boxes illustrating special topics key point summaries and suggested further reading Lipids Sixth Edition provides a huge wealth of information for upper level students of biological and clinical sciences food science and nutrition and for professionals working in academic and industrial research Libraries in all universities and research establishments where biological medical and food and nutritional sciences are studied and taught should have copies of this excellent and comprehensive new edition on their shelves Advances in

Lipid Methodology - Five R. O. Adlof, 2003 Lipid Analysis W. W. Christie, X Han, 2010-01-10 This well known and highly successful book was first published in 1973 and has been completely re written in subsequent editions published in 1982 and 2003 This new Fourth Edition has become necessary because of the pace of developments in mass spectrometry of intact lipids which has given recognition of lipid analysis and lipidomics as a distinct science To bring the book up to date with these developments author William W Christie is joined by co author Xianlin Han Although devoting considerable space to mass spectrometry and lipidomics Lipid analysis remains a practical guide in one volume to the complexities of the analysis of lipids As in past editions it is designed to act as a primary source of value at the laboratory bench rather than residing on a library shelf Lipid analysis deals with the isolation separation identification and structural analysis of glycerolipids including triacylglycerols phospholipids sphingolipids and the various hydrolysis products of these The chapters follow a logical sequence from the extraction of lipids to the isolation and characterization of particular lipid classes and of molecular species of each and to the mass spectrometric analysis of lipids and lipidomics The new influence of mass spectrometry is due mainly to the development of electrospray ionization ESI and matrix assisted laser desorption ionization MALDI Most emphasis in this book is placed on ESI which is enabling structural characterization of different lipid classes and the identification of novel lipids and their molecular species
