Hafiz and His Contemporaries Dominic Parviz Brookshaw, 2019-02-28 Despite his towering presence in premodern Persian letters Shams al Din Muhammad Hafiz of Shiraz d 1390 remains an elusive and opaque character for many In order to look behind the hyperbole that surrounds Hafiz s poetry and penetrate the quasi hagiographical film that obscures the poet himself this book attempts a contextualisation of Hafiz that is at once socio political historical and literary Here Hafiz s ghazals short monorhyme broadly amorous lyric poems are read comparatively against similar texts composed by his less studied rivals in the hyper competitive imitative and profoundly intertextual environment of fourteenth century Shiraz By bringing Hafiz s lyric poetry into productive detailed dialogue with that of the counterhegemonic satirist Ubayd Zakani d 1371 and the marginalised Jahan Malik Khatun d after 1391 the most prolific female poet of premodern Iran our received understanding of this most iconic of stages in the development of the Persian ghazal is disrupted and new avenues for literary exploration open up Looking beyond the particular milieu of Shiraz this study re assesses Hafiz s place in the Persian poetic canon through reading his poems alongside those produced by professional poets in other major centres of Persian literary activity who enjoyed comparable fame in the fourteenth century Recognising the aesthetic achievements of his contemporaries does not diminish the splendour of Hafiz s rather it forces us to accept that Hafiz was but one member of a band of poets who jostled for the limelight in competing often intersecting patronage and reception networks that facilitated intense cultural exchange between the cities of post Mongol Iran and Iraq Hafiz s ghazals characterised as they are by conscious and deliberate hybridity ambiguity and polysemy are products of a creative mind bent on experimenting with genre While in no way seeking to deny the mystical stratum of the Persian ghazal in its fourteenth century manifestation this study emphasises the courtly and profane dimensions of the form and regards Hafiz through a sober lens with keen attention to his dynamic role at the heart of a vibrant poetic community that was at once both fiercely local and boldly cosmopolitan

Variations of the Hero's Journey in Contemporary British, French and Australian Picture Books about the Great War

Martin C. Kerby, Denise Burkhard, Alison Bedford, Marion Gymnich, Margaret M. Baguley, 2025-09-30 This book is grounded in the belief that every nation had its own Great War and that children s picture books are an important barometer of each country s national approach To explore the depiction of the Great War in modern Australian British and French children s picture books where this historical event is reimaged in different ways as a futile conflict as a painful victory and as part of one country s founding mythology this book uses the concept of the hero s journey as an underlying framework It claims that this monomythic pattern as developed by Joseph Campbell and modified by Christopher Vogler not only informs all picture books selected for this project but can also be used to highlight the extent to which modern children s picture book authors and illustrators conform to their respective nation s cultural memory It further maintains that the specific historical context of the Great War in these children s picture books can be used to identify a variant of the hero s journey the ordinary soldier s journey This analysis of children s picture books about the Great War through the lens of Campbell s hero s journey will be of interest to both students and researchers in the fields of children s literature literary theory history cultural studies and education Contemporary Belgian Poetry ,1911

Where You Once Belonged Kent Haruf,2011-11-09 In Where You Once Belonged the bestselling and award winning novelist of Eventide Kent Haruf tells of a small town hero who is dealt an enviable hand and cheats with all of the cards Deftly plotted defiantly honest Where You Once Belonged sings the song of a wounded prairie community in a narrative with the earmarks of a modern American classic In prose as lean and supple as a spring switch Haruf describes a high school football star who wins the heart of the loveliest girl in the county and the admiration of men twice his age Fun loving independent Burdette engages in the occasional prank But when he turns into a man his high jinks turn into crimes with unspeakable consequences Now eight years later Burdette has returned to commit his greatest trespass of all And the people of Holt may not be able to stop him African Settings in Contemporary American Novels Dave Kuhne,1999-05-30 Africa has long captured the Western imagination as a land shrouded in danger and mystery British and American novels written before World War II established popular conventions and stereotypes about Africa that have been increasingly challenged by contemporary American novels set in Africa Kuhne s book overviews the ways in which Africa has been employed as a powerful setting for American novels written since World War II Kuhne argues that contemporary American novels with African settings are largely didactic that these novels convey specific lessons about Africa and Africans and that they compare African and American cultures in order to evaluate and critique the two worlds The book begins by summarizing the conventions and themes Westerners have traditionally associated with Africa and by detailing how British and American authors from Aphra Behn to Ernest Hemingway depicted Africa before World War II It then looks at contemporary American novels set in invented African nations novels that typically suggest that the problems that trouble actual African nations are the result of colonialism A separate chapter then examines the African novels of African Americans which generally aim to correct the historical record refute stereotypes and detail the horrors of the slave trade The volume also looks at genre fiction set in Africa while a final chapter discusses postcolonial novels with African settings Virginia Woolf and Heritage Jane deGay,Tom Breckin,Anne Reus,2017-06-08 This collection situates Woolf in relation to the past exploring her rich and varied heritage from a variety of fields while also assessing her own literary and biographical legacy Rabbinic Literature and Greco-Roman Philosophy Fischel,2022-07-04 Homer's Daughters Fiona Cox,Elena Theodorakopoulos,2019-10-03 This collection of essays examines the various ways in which the Homeric epics have been responded to reworked and rewritten by women writers of the twentieth and early twenty first centuries Beginning in 1914 with the First World War it charts this understudied strand of the history of Homeric reception over the subsequent century up to the present day analysing the extraordinary responses both to the Odyssey and to the Iliad by women from around the world. The backgrounds of these authors and the genres they employ: memoir, poetry, children's literature, rap, novels, testify not only to the plasticity of Homeric epic but also to the widening social classes to whom Homer appeals and it is unsurprising to see the myriad ways in which women writers across the globe have played their part in the story of Homer's afterlife. From surrealism to successive waves of feminism to creative futures, Homer's footprint can be seen in a multitude of different literary and political movements and the essays in this volume bring an array of critical approaches to bear on the work of authors ranging from H.D. and Simone Weil to Christa Wolf, Margaret Atwood and Kate Tempest. Students and scholars of not only classics but also translation studies, comparative literature and women's writing will find much to interest them while the volume's concluding reflections by Emily Wilson on her new translation of the Odyssey are an apt reminder to all of just how open a text can be and of how great a difference can be made by a woman's voice.
