The New Codependency Melody Beattie, 2008-12-30 The New Codependency is an owner's manual to learning to be who you are and gives you the tools necessary to reclaim your life by renouncing unhealthy practices In Codependent No More Melody Beattie introduced the world to the term codependency Now a modern classic this book established Beattie as a pioneer in self help literature and endeared her to millions of readers who longed for healthier relationships Twenty five years later concepts such as self care and setting boundaries have become entrenched in mainstream culture Now Beattie has written a followup volume The New Codependency which clears up misconceptions about codependency identifies how codependent behavior has changed and provides a new generation with a road map to wellness The question remains What is and what is not codependency Beattie here reminds us that much of codependency is normal behavior It's about crossing lines There are times we do too much care too much feel too little or overly engage Feeling resentment after giving is not the same as heartfelt generosity Narcissism and self love enabling and nurturing and controlling and setting boundaries are not interchangeable terms In The New Codependency Beattie explores these differences effectively invoking her own inspiring story and those of others to empower us to step out of the victim role forever Codependency she shows is not an illness but rather a series of behaviors that once broken down and analyzed can be successfully combated Each section offers an overview of and a series of activities pertaining to a particular behavior caretaking controlling manipulation denial repression etc enabling us to personalize our own step by step guide to wellness These sections in conjunction with a series of tests allowing us to assess the level of our codependent behavior demonstrate that while it may not seem possible now we have the power to take care of ourselves no matter what we are experiencing

Heroine Abuse Thomas Gaiton Marullo, 2015-10-15 Fyodor Dostoevsky's first novel Netochka Nezvanova written in 1849 remains the least studied and understood of the writer's long fiction but it was a seedbed for many topics and themes that became hallmarks of his major works Specifically Netochka Nezvanova was the first in Dostoevsky's corpus to focus on the psychology of children and the first to feature a woman in a leading and narrative role It was also the first work in Russian literature to deal with problems of the family In Heroine Abuse Thomas Marullo contends that Netochka Nezvanova also provides a striking example of what psychologists today call codependency the ways often deviant and destructive in which individuals bond with people places and things as well as with images and ideas to cope with the vicissitudes of life Marullo shows how at age twenty eight Dostoevsky intuited and illustrated the workings of relationship addiction almost a century and a half before it became the scholarly focus of practitioners of mental health The moral monsters infernal women children adults and adult children who populate Netochka Nezvanova seek codependence in people places and things and in images ideas and ideals to satiate cravings for love dominance and control as well as to indulge in narcissism sexual perversion and other aberrant or alternative behaviors Indeed in no other work would Dostoevsky examine such phenomena as pedophilia and lesbianism with such abandon Racing from tie to tie bond to bond and caught in a debilitating loop that they claim to detest but sadomasochistically enjoy the characters in Netochka Nezvanova wreak havoc on themselves and the world They do so moreover with impunity their addictions moving them from momentary exultation as self styled extraordinary men and women through prolonged darkness and despair and once again to old and new addictions for physical and emotional release Readers of Heroine Abuse will see Netochka Nezvanova as a timeless model in depicting codependency in the world of the twenty first century as it did in St Petersburg in 1849 Marullo s original work will appeal to scholars and students of Russian and comparative fiction to doctors psychologists and therapists to laymen and women interested in relationship addiction and finally to codependents and relationship addicts of all types
