Beyond the Meeting of the Waters Wayne Atkinson, Catherine Guinness, 2025-09-16 Storyline is the word used to describe the way the Indigenous stories relate with each other like veins running across the land They are passed on by word of mouth and are communicated through other mediums art language music and ceremony Yorta Yorta Elder Wayne Atkinson's storyline begins like thousands of generations before him on the banks of a river but it would take him to the halls of higher learning and a lifetime of activism to further the empowerment of his people For Atkinson education is a life giving river that can be traced back to the teachings of his great grandfather and his Elders This eventually led him to a university education and he became a much loved teacher of Indigenous Studies at the University of Melbourne where he pioneered the concept of Oncountry Learning An essential voice of his generation Atkinson has been at the forefront of Aboriginal cultural renaissance in Victoria since the 1980s when Kooris asserted their rights to self determination His advocacy for human rights has contributed to widespread reform He also played a pivotal role in the Yorta Yorta Native Title land claim and was a commissioner with the Yoorrook Justice Commission Beyond the Meeting of the Waters is a penetrating and deeply humane insight into the power of the voice the spear of the pen and the potential of collective organisation

The Resisting Muse: Popular Music and Social Protest Ian Peddie, 2017-09-29 Popular music has traditionally served as a rallying point for voices of opposition across a huge variety of genres This volume examines the various ways popular music has been deployed as anti establishment and how such opposition both influences and responds to the music produced Implicit in the notion of resistance is a broad adversarial hegemony against which opposition is measured But it would be wrong to regard the music of popular protest as a kind of dialogue in league against the establishment Convenient though they are such as and their arguments bespeak a rather shop worn stance redolent of youthful rebellion It is much more fruitful to perceive the relationship as a complex dialectic where musical protest is as fluid as the audiences to which it appeals and the hegemonic structures it opposes The book's contemporary focus largely post 1975 allows for comprehensive coverage of extremely diverse forms of popular music in relation to the creation of communities of protest Because such communities are fragmented and diverse the shared experience and identity popular music purports is dependent upon an audience collectivity that is now difficult to presume In this respect The Resisting Muse examines how the forms and aims of social protest music are contingent upon the audience's ability to invest the music with the appropriate political meaning Amongst a plethora of artists genres and themes highlights include discussions of Aboriginal rights and music Bauhaus Black Sabbath Billy Bragg Bono Cassette culture The Capitol Steps Class The Cure DJ Spooky Drum and Bass Eminem Farm Aid Foxy Brown Folk Goldie Gothicism Woody Guthrie Heavy Metal Hip hop Independent home publishing Iron Maiden Joy Division Jungle Led Zeppelin Lil Kim Live Aid Marilyn Manson Bob Marley MC Eiht Minor Threat Motown Queen Latifah Race Rap Rastafarianism Reggae The Roots Diana Ross Rush Salt n Pepa 7 Seconds Roxanne Shant Siouxsie and the Banshees The Sisters of Mercy Michelle Shocked Bessie Smith Straight edge Sunrize Band Bunny Wailer Wilco Bart Willoughby Wirrinyga Band Zines

The Voice and Its Doubles Daniel Fisher, 2016-04-07 Beginning in the early 1980s Aboriginal Australians found in music radio and filmic media a means to make themselves heard across the country and to insert themselves into the center of Australian political life. In The Voice and Its Doubles Daniel Fisher analyzes the great success of this endeavor asking what is at stake in the sounds of such media for Aboriginal Australians. Drawing on long term ethnographic research in northern Australia Fisher describes the close proximity of musical media shifting forms of governmental intervention and those public expressions of intimacy and kinship that suffuse Aboriginal Australian social life. Today's Aboriginal media include genres of country music and hip hop radio requests and broadcast speech visual graphs of a digital audio timeline as well as the statistical media of audience research and the discursive and numerical figures of state audits and cultural policy formation. In each of these diverse instances the mediatized voice has become a site for overlapping and at times discordant forms of political expressive and institutional creativity.
