Modern Hermeneutics, Eschatology, and National Identity in the Works of Thomas Brightman Andrew Crome, 2014-05-07 This book offers the first detailed examination of the life and works of biblical commentator Thomas Brightman 1562 1607 analysing his influential eschatological commentaries and their impact on both conservative and radical writers in early modern England It examines in detail the hermeneutic strategies used by Brightman and argues that his method centred on the dual axes of a Jewish restoration to Palestine and the construction of a strong English national identity This book suggests that Brightman s use of conservative modes of literal exegesis led him to new interpretations which had a major impact on early modern English eschatology A radically historicised mode of exegesis sought to provide interpretations of the Old Testament that would have made sense to their original readers leading Brightman and those who followed him to argue for the physical restoration of the Jews to the Holy Land In doing so the standard Reformed identification of Old Testament Israel with elect Christians was denied This book traces the evolution of the controversial idea that Israel and the church both had separate unfulfilled scriptural promises in early modern England and shows how early modern exegetes sought to re construct a distinctly English Christian identity through reading their nation into prophecy In examining Brightman s hermeneutic strategies and their influence this book argues for important links between a literal hermeneutic ideas of Jewish restoration and national identity construction in early modern England Its central arguments will be of interest to all those researching the history of biblical interpretation the role of religion in constructing national identity and the background to the later development of Christian Zionism This important study provides a new examination of Thomas Brightman s hermeneutical method particularly his ideas on the restoration of the Jews The author s thorough analysis of Brightman s approach also has more general and wider implications for understanding the development of English apocalyptic interpretation into the later seventeenth century Dr Warren Johnston Associate Professor of History Algoma University Andrew Crome s ground breaking study of Thomas Brightman offers a new and sometimes surprising account of the development of millennial thinking in and beyond early modern England This masterly account demonstrates the extent to which an emerging Zionism supported an emerging English nationalism while outlining the historical roots of some of the most important of contemporary geopolitical themes Professor Crawford Gribben Professor of Early Modern British History Queen s University Belfast This important study provides a new examination of Thomas Brightman s hermeneutical method particularly his ideas on the restoration of the Jews The author s thorough analysis of Brightman s approach also has more general and wider implications for understanding the development of English apocalyptic interpretation into the later seventeenth century Dr Warren Johnston Associate Professor of History Algoma University

The God of Second Chances Ron Clark, 2012-09-13 When the people of Judah were taken captive by the Babylonians their world was drastically changed While in exile they experienced shame guilt fear and displacement However their God had been traumatized by their behavior and also grieved with them Yet Yahweh gave them a second chance by forgiving them and bringing them home God offered them hope mercy and love The prophets were God s chosen messengers not only to provide a new vision of what could be but to suffer with the people These servants were caught in the middle between a passionate God and traumatized people As the people returned to Jerusalem to rebuild their city and their lives the prophets were with them to remind them that God had not abandoned them The author suggests that the prophets live on today through the church as those who engage their community fight for people s hearts and remind others that God gives second chances Clark shares stories from his personal ministry to the marginalized in Portland Oregon who seek relief from shame suffering and hopelessness In this hope our community receives new vision through a loving God and persistent prophets
