In this book principles, diversity and applications of agroecological practices for a range of systems are presented, transforming scientific research and participatory knowledge of production into practical application. It illustrates a broad range of research and teaching being used within the farming community to demonstrate best practice and current state of play within the field. Agroecological methods used in crop farming, grass based livestock farming, fish production and other complex farming systems are discussed. Conclusions are drawn from studies to provide an outlook on future trends of agroecological practices and on policies supporting implementation. Due to emphasis on real life application it is relevant not only to students of the agricultural sciences and public policy but also to researchers, stakeholders and policy makers involved in the development of sustainable agriculture.
