Spam (unsolicited Commercial E-mail) United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation, 2013 Spam Finn Brunton, 2015-01-30 What spam is how it works and how it has shaped online communities and the Internet itself The vast majority of all email sent every day is spam a variety of idiosyncratically spelled requests to provide account information invitations to spend money on dubious products and pleas to send cash overseas Most of it is caught by filters before ever reaching an in box Where does it come from As Finn Brunton explains in Spam it is produced and shaped by many different populations around the world programmers con artists bots and their botmasters pharmaceutical merchants marketers identity thieves crooked bankers and their victims cops lawyers network security professionals vigilantes and hackers Every time we go online we participate in the system of spam with choices refusals and purchases the consequences of which we may not understand This is a book about what spam is how it works and what it means Brunton provides a cultural history that stretches from pranks on early computer networks to the construction of a global criminal infrastructure The history of spam Brunton shows us is a shadow history of the Internet itself with spam emerging as the mirror image of the online communities it targets Brunton traces spam through three epochs the 1970s to 1995 and the early noncommercial computer networks that became the Internet 1995 to 2003 with the dot com boom the rise of spam s entrepreneurs and the first efforts at regulating spam and 2003 to the present with the war of algorithms spam versus anti spam Spam shows us how technologies from email to search engines are transformed by unintended consequences and adaptations and how online communities develop and invent governance for themselves
